

'Invasions' Into North Saturate Big Area Of Gun Emplacement

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of high-altitude B-52 bombers made one of their rare invasions of North Vietnam today for a saturation raid on gun emplacements and dug-in bunkers of the North Vietnamese 341st Division just above the 17th Parallel frontier.

The U.S. Command said the big bombers came in waves two hours apart and saturated an area almost two miles wide with a lethal rain of bombs.

The number of bombers was not disclosed but the size of the target area indicated a far greater than average strike. The big bombers probably unloaded hundreds of thousands of pounds of bombs on the North Vietnamese emplacements.

The target area was just north of the demilitarized zone dividing Vietnam and about 14 miles inland—the area where the 341st Division is posted and from which heavy Communist guns have for weeks fired deadly barrages on U.S. Marines dug in about seven miles to the south.

Although ground action was scattered and inconclusive, there were these other developments in the war:

1. The U.S. Command announced that the Forrestal, America's third-largest aircraft carrier, has joined the 7th Fleet operating against North Vietnam from the Tonkin Gulf. The Australian destroyer Hobart also rejoined the fleet bombarding North Vietnam.

2. Two American jets were downed over North Vietnam Tuesday. They brought announced U.S. combat plane losses over North Vietnam to 617. They were a Navy A4 Skyhawk jet and a two-place Air Force F4C Phantom. The three fliers are missing in action.

3. South Vietnamese headquarters said two more Communist mines ripped up the road and blew up a small concrete bridge on Highway 4, the main road from Saigon into the Mekong Delta and long regarded as one of the nation's safest roads. Guerrillas have set more than nine mines in the road in the past week and more have been discovered unexploded.

4. Viet Cong guerrillas masquerading as government troops struck a lethal blow close to Saigon for the second time in 24 hours. Wearing South Vietnamese army uniforms, the guerrillas seized a Red Cross ambulance and surprised a militia post and police station six miles northwest of the capital, killed 11 policemen and militiamen, and wounded seven others.

Vietnam Reaction To Riots

Expressions Of Servicemen Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — "Let them come over here if they want to fight," said John B. Harper, 20, a white infantryman from Lorain, Ohio.

"The rioting and violence isn't going to accomplish a damn thing," said Capt. David Travis, a Negro. "But it certainly discloses a festering sore in our society and it is an indication that there is a group of people that haven't been afforded the opportunity to enjoy the affluence of American society."

These were typical reactions to the racial violence in the United States expressed by combat soldiers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division's 2nd Brigade, stationed at Di An 15 miles north of Saigon.

"I'm distressed to see the rioting occur," said Travis, a 32-year-old career officer who is a native of Newark, N.J.

"It seems ironic that here I am in Vietnam being real actively involved in the defense and protection of the way of life that insures a standard of living and level of privileges that seem to be denied to those individuals that are home."

Two other Negroes with the brigade, 1st Lt. Winford "Mike" Parker, 26, and Spec. 4 Kiser Hunter, 24, are from Detroit, one of the hardest hit cities.

"I'm really appalled by the complete disregard for authority and lack of respect for fellow citizens, especially done under the pretense of fighting for civil liberties," Parker said.

"I think the majority of the people (the rioters) aren't really concerned with civil rights per se, I think they are exploiting the situation for their own personal gain, such as the vandalism of stores."

"I know the government has done everything possible to give decent homes to the people. In a matter of two or three years, they destroyed them. This leads me to believe they don't want a decent home to begin with."

THREE YEAR OLD Thomas Allen stands in the ruins of his home on Detroit's east side after it was burned to the ground in the riots that hit this city. Little Thomas' bewildered appearance is a symbol of the riots' most tragic victims. Thomas, along with his mother is now staying at one of the seven emergency housing centers set up for refugees. Frenchman Goes Home

DeGaulle, Pearson Meeting Is Avoided

OTTAWA (AP) — An uncertain reception awaited President Charles de Gaulle in Canada's capital today following a rebuke from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and mounting protests over his support for Quebec separatists.

De Gaulle was scheduled to arrive by train late today for a round of banquets and receptions concluding his controversial five-day tour that ends Thursday night when he flies home.

The 76-year-old French leader gave no sign he was concerned by the furor he caused by shouting the separatist rallying cry, "Long live Free Quebec!" to a wildly cheering French-Canadian crowd in Montreal Monday.

Adding new fuel to the dispute, De Gaulle declared at a dinner Tuesday night in Montreal he "will rejoice profoundly" if his visit has been "useful" to the French-speaking citizens of Quebec Province, where a militant minority demands secession of the province from the English-speaking rest of Canada.

A few hours earlier Pearson accused De Gaulle of encouraging "the small minority of our population whose aim is to destroy Canada." After an emergency meeting with his Cabinet, the prime minister said these statements by the French president "are unacceptable to the Canadian people and its government."

Pearson tempered his rebuke by saying he was sure Canadians were pleased at the warm welcome De Gaulle had received in Quebec and that Canadians "attach the greatest importance to our friendship with the French people."

Pearson's statement failed to satisfy some aroused Canadians. (See DeGAULLE, Page 6A)

Pope Visits Old Shrines

IZMIR, Turkey (AP) — Pope Paul VI turned today from the diplomatic and unity aspects of his trip to Turkey to visit early Christian shrines of Izmir and nearby Ephesus.

It was at Ephesus that the Apostle Paul, from whom the Pope took his papal name, issued one of his greatest epistles. According to some Catholic tradition, the Virgin Mary lived there for a time toward the end of her life.

Pope Paul, the first Roman Catholic pontiff to visit Turkey in 1,200 years, flew in a Turkish airliner from Istanbul on the Bosphorus to Cigli, a North Atlantic Treaty Organization base just outside Izmir, a city of palm trees and occasional camels.

The plane skirted parts of western Turkey devastated by an earthquake last Saturday. Tremors continued. The Kandilli Observatory in Istanbul reported it had recorded 100 in the past 24 hours.

A Turkish air force helicopter with two Italian radio-television crew members aboard plunged into the Bay of Izmir while surveying camera positions along the Pope's route. The engine failed as the craft was cruising about 20 yards above the water. The Italians and the Turkish pilot and copilot were drenched, but uninjured.

Pope Paul left Istanbul in an emotional, ceremony-laden departure in which the Turkish government gave him the full treatment accorded to a visiting chief of state.

The top religious leaders of the various faiths in Turkey—Muslim, Christian and Jewish—saw him off on his pilgrimage. The Pope and Patriarch Athenagoras of the Orthodox Church embraced twice for the kiss of peace in farewell.

As a pilgrimage site, Ephesus is considered the burial place of Saints John, Luke, Mary Magdalene, Timothy and Philip the Deacon.

On his arrival at Izmir, Pope Paul was received by a massive American-Turkish honor guard.

A crowd of more than 3,000 persons, mostly members of American service families, applauded and waved.

"We greet with joy the authorities and the people of Izmir who welcome us," the Pope said.

A black limousine carried him to the road winding through gentle hills to Ephesus, 60 miles southeast of Izmir.

In Geneva, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, American general secretary of the World Council of Churches hailed "the new spirit of reconciliation" between Eastern and Western churches as symbolized by the Pope's visit to Turkey.

The World Council comprises more than 200 Protestant, Anglican, Orthodox and Old Catholic churches in more than 80 countries.

Fresh Outbreak In Detroit Riots

Death Toll To 33; Damage In Millions

The nation's midsummer nightmare of street violence continued today with fresh outbreaks occurring as rapidly as other disturbances were put down. The presence of federal troops failed to prevent new rioting in Detroit.

As the killing, burning and looting continued in the nation's fifth largest city, the death toll jumped to 33 and property damage was more than $150 million. Gunfire rattled through the night.

Missouri Projects In Bill

$4.62 Billion Public Works Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed a $4.62 billion public works bill Tuesday and sent it to the Senate.

It includes millions in construction money for a dozen reservoir, levee and flood control projects in Kansas and Missouri and several hundred thousand dollars for plans and surveys.

The bill is for the year which started July 1. It provides about $243 million less than President Johnson asked but $314 million more than was appropriated for the previous year.

By a rollcall vote of 239 to 166, the House defeated an amendment by Rep. Glenn R. Davis, R-Wis., to cut every item by 5 per cent. This would have saved about $230 million.

Missouri, Army engineer projects.

Construction: Chariton River $1,400,000; Clarence Cannon Reservoir $3 million; Des Moines and Mississippi levee district $577,000; Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir $8,800,000; Meramec Park Reservoir $450,000; Pattonsburg Reservoir, highway crossing $834,000; St. Louis $6 million; Stockton Reservoir $10,700,000.

Planning: Chariton - Little Chariton River $100,000; Long Branch Reservoir $100,000; Platte River $50,000; Smithville Reservoir $200,000.

Surveys: Columbia bottoms area $20,000; Flat Creek, Sedalia, $10,000; Grand River, Pattonsburg Reservoir $35,000; metropolitan St. Louis $15,000; Missouri River basin study $312,000; Osage River below Bagnell Dam $17,000; Rock Creek, Mo., and Iowa, $10,000; St. Louis harbor $75,000.

Kansas, Army engineer projects.

Construction: Atchison $1 million; Lawrence $500,000; Marion Reservoir $778,000; Melvern Reservoir $2,200,000; Osawatimie $500,000; Perry Reservoir $6 million; Topeka $900,000.

Planning: El Dorado Reservoir $200,000; Fort Scott Reservoir $55,000; Grove Reservoir $275,000; Hays $120,000; Hillsdale Reservoir $75,000.

Through the streets of New York's Spanish Harlem, priests and nuns led a candlelight procession singing the "Ave Maria" and for the first time in three nights the neighborhood was nearly calm.

There were at least eight persons shot and wounded in Saginaw, Mich., and another three in Grand Rapids. In the Southwest, Phoenix, Ariz., police confronted Negro youths amid intermittent rifle fire.

Chicago's West Side was the scene of sporadic looting but police said they confined the outbreak to a five-block area. Along Cleveland's Hough Avenue, where rioting took five lives a year ago, a number of fire bombs were thrown.

Congressional leaders in Washington haggled Tuesday over who was to take the political blame for the city rioting as they moved to set up the machinery to investigate the street violence.

Among the latest to die in Detroit were a 4-year-old girl and four persons shot to death in a motel room, police said. National Guardsmen opened up with machineguns on some suspected sniper nests.

The president of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce predicted the cost of the rioting in the three-county metropolitan area could eventually reach $1 billion.

The president of the Detroit Police Association said in Toronto Tuesday that the arrival of troops was delayed by jockeying for political advantage between Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Gov. George Romney.

In Cambridge, Md., a federal fugitive warrant was issued Tuesday for the arrest of H. Rap Brown, the militant head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, charged with complicity in the riot in that city Monday night.

Relative peace also prevailed after nights of disturbances in Englewood, N.J. Pontiac, Mich. and Rochester, N.Y.

Rochester Police Chief William M. Lombard credited stepped-up anti-riot training for his men as a key factor in putting down the violence that took two lives there.

In Saginaw, Mich., police said (See FRESH, Page 6A)

Tito Set To Visit In Cairo

Will Discuss Middle-East With Nasser

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS President Tito of Yugoslavia, one of Egypt's staunchest non-combat supporters in the war with Israel, will visit Cairo "within the next few days" to discuss the Middle East situation with President Gamal Abdel Nasser, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram said today.

Yugoslavia spearheaded the unsuccessful attempt by non-aligned nations at the United Nations to win General Assembly approval of a resolution demanding unconditional Israeli withdrawal from the territory won from the Arab states in the lightning war.

Diplomats in Belgrade said recently that the Kremlin is counting on Tito's influence with Arab leaders to repair the damage Israel's military victory inflicted on the Soviet Union's reputation in the Arab world.

Egypt sought to bolster its nearly bankrupt economy Tuesday with a new austerity budget including tax increases, higher prices and drastic reductions in government spending. Such commodities as sugar, tea, cooking oil, cigarettes and beverages will cost 10 to 20 per cent more. Sales taxes on cars and spare parts to up 50 per cent, and a new national security tax raises defense taxes the same amount. Government subsidies on rationed food and other essential items were reduced.

Egypt's economic boss, Zakaria Mohieddin, told a news conference "we lost a vital portion of our income" with the closing of the Suez Canal and the loss of tourist revenue since the war.

In Amman, Jordan's King Hussein told Parliament an Arab summit meeting was needed now "more than any time before." He said Arab leaders should study the results of the Arab defeat and plan for the future.

Hussein also disclosed that he had ordered the army command to prepare a training program for Jordanian citizens not already in the armed forces.

Moslem non-Arab leaders of Iran, Pakistan and Turkey are scheduled to hold secret talks at a Caspian Sea resort Saturday to "review Middle Eastern problems." Informed sources in Tehran said Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, Turkish President Cevdet Sunay and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan would confer at the resort town of Ramsar.

In Jerusalem, Rabbi Pesach Levovitz, president of the U.S. Rabbinical Council, said the council would launch a campaign to have American Jewish families send at least one member to Israel, either as a permanent resident or for a prolonged stay.

Concert Band To Perform

The Sedalia Concert Band, under the direction of Lloyd H. Knox, will present its ninth concert at 8 p.m. Thursday at Liberty Park.

The program will be: "The Trombone King March," King; "Stand-By March," Castellucci; "Light Cavalry Overture," Suppe and Tobani; "Getting To Know You," Rodgers and Hammerstein; "The Merry Widow Waltz," Lehár; "Hey! Look Me Over," Leigh and Coleman; "As Long As He Needs Me," from "Oliver," Bart; "Song of Love," from "Blossom Time," Romberg; "The Melody Shop," King; "Chicago Tribune March," Chambers; "Ciribiribin," Pestalozza; "Clarinet Polka," Bennet; "March the Empress," Chambers; "You Are Free," Kreisler and Jacobi; "Men of Music," King and Walters.

Musicians for the concert series are furnished through a grant from the Recording Industry Trust Fund, arranged for through cooperation of Local 22, American Federation of Musicians and the Sedalia Park Board.

'Necessary'

Powell Sees New Rioting

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell said today the riots in Detroit and other American cities "are a necessary phase of the black revolution — necessary."

And Powell, at a news conference on this tiny British island where he lives in self-imposed exile, said new Negro rioting would "explode" in 12 American areas unless Negroes are nominated to Congress by Sept. 1.

Powell did not elaborate on how Negro congressmen could be nominated by Sept. 1.

The congressman-elect said Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., "must be replaced. No wonder white people burned his office. No wonder he was hit by a rock."

Powell said, "In Detroit, black people were betrayed by a mayor or whom they helped to elect."

The mayor, John Cavanagh, was not mentioned by name in a statement Powell read.

the airport.

Powell said new rioting would break out in Brooklyn, the Bronx, Newark, Atlanta, St. Louis, Cleveland, Chicago's West Side, two areas of Mississippi, South Carolina, Richmond and Baltimore.

Powell said in answer to a question the rioting in Spanish Harlem, part of which is in his congressional district, did not erupt because he is in Bimini.

"My absence has nothing to do with that. It is a vacuum of no jobs, of apathy, and of slum housing."

Powell was asked by a tourist, "You wouldn't be starting riots if you were in Harlem now?"

"I don't know," Powell told the woman.

He described black power youths as "a new breed of cats" who are waging "the greatest Civil War since 1863."

Powell hinted that he had plans to be a candidate for president, but said he did not expect to win if he ran.

"If — if I did run as a 'favored son' in any state presidential primary," he said in his statement, "it will be under my own political steam to further the goals of black people, to oppose the war in Vietnam, to fight a larger war against poverty and for justice for black people. This is my platform."

4-H Exhibits Viewed At Achievement Day

Many new items were seen this year at the annual 4-H Achievement Day held at Smith Cotton High School. Displays included a corner desk, a gun rack, letter holders, whatnots and checkerboards made with the squares of inlaid wood.

In the home furnishing department were draperies, pictures, refinished furniture, and many items to make a home attractive. The electricity projects included a large window or attic fan, lamps and extensions that are particularly useful on a farm.

Animals of all kinds prevailed in the ceramic exhibit. One item, a cheese dish in the form of round piece of cheese with a mouse on top, was especially noteworthy. There were wall plaques, dishes, vases and also pixies.

Butterflies and insects were mounted and on display, too, as were fish flies. There were pictures mounted in the photography exhibit, and in the gardening many kinds of vegetables and flowers. Cakes, cookies, breads and rolls looked tempting.

Knitting seems to be a popular project with the 4-H members, for there were dozens of knitted items from mittens to sweaters in all colors.

Sewing projects were from colorful little head scarves made by the younger 4-H members to many beautiful dresses and suits made by the older girls.

The open house Thursday evening was well attended by people of Pettis County with 4-H members as hosts showing and telling about the articles on display. They also served punch and cookies from table centered with garden flowers.

Friday afternoon awards were made to the winners in demonstrations, grooming and public speaking which entitles them to go to the district contest. Six girls also received blue ribbons from the Sears' Foundation on room improvement projects.

Hearnes To Ink Tourism Measure

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes will sign a bill setting up a new state tourism commission at the Travelodge Motel in Warrensburg Wednesday.

The ceremony will occur at a dinner by the Missouri State Motel Association in honor of the governor's press secretary, Will W. Davis, for his aid in passing the legislation.

Thursday Davis will speak before a combined civic club luncheon at Sedalia on "Tourism—a new Approach."

Saturday's rings can be seen only through a telescope.

GIRLS UNDER 12—Cotton blouses are judged while girls under 12 years of age are told what points figure in the placing of these four items.

Men Spend Millions Just To Smell Nicer

NEW YORK (AP) — The business of making American men smell nicer is skyrocketing. So is the business of making American women smell nicer.

"Only 10 years ago most men thought colognes were silly, but they don't any more," said Alvin Welzel, a director of the Toilet Goods Association and vice president of the House of Houbigant.

"Men spent $120 million on fragrances in 1966, up 20 per cent from the year before. Women spent $440 million, which also represents a 20 per cent increase."

The masculine trend toward heavier and stronger scents leads many experts in the industry to predict that the U.S. male soon will go all the way and start wearing perfume, as men did in past civilizations.

"It's coming," said Welzel, a slender, intellectual-looking man of 51 who switched to cosmetics merchandising after studying genetics and breeding in college.

"In many homes scents are already interchangeable, and husbands and wives use the same fragrances and deodorants."

To Welzel this is only a matter of history repeating itself. His company, founded in France in 1775, lists among its past clients not only Queen Victoria, Marie Antoinette and the Empress Eugenie, but also Napoleon Bonaparte and French author Guy de Maupassant.

Napoleon was so enamored of the sweet smell of success that he used 54 bottles of cologne a month and carried them with

Records Set In Sales, Revenues

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Anheuser-Busch, Inc., reported today sales and revenues set records during the first six months of 1967, but earnings were down slightly because of losses in non-beer divisions of the company.

August A. Busch Jr., president and chairman of the board said sales and revenues totaled $260,861,749 and earnings came to $15,235,337, or $1.38 per share during the first half of the year.

For a comparable period in 1966, sales and revenues totaled $230,509,524 and earnings were $15,964,364, or $1.45 per share.

Busch said earnings of the beer division, which turns out Budweiser, Michelob, and Busch Bavarian beers, rose $1,428,565 over the first half of 1966. Anheuser-Busch sold 7.3 million barrels of beer during the earnings period, 12 per cent more than during the first half of 1966, Busch said.

Anheuser-Busch also markets bakery supplies, table syrups and laundry starch and recently acquired Manufacturers Rail-way Co. and St. Louis Refrigerator Car Co.

him to his battlefields. One would think that on a windy day the odor would have alerted the enemy to his presence.

Welzel is full of odd tidbits of the lore of perfumes which, he says, originated as tributes to the gods, then were restricted to kings and nobles. Only in recent times have they reached the purse level of the common people.

"The Greek physician Hippocrates prescribed perfumes for patients suffering from nervous disorders," he said. "During the banquets of ancient Greek aristocrats, doves were soaked in perfume and then let loose to fly around the room."

"The Romans even waged wars to bring home perfumes and spices. Nero often had perfume showered from the ceilings of his dining saloon."

"The household of Mme. de Pompadour spent $100,000 a year on perfume, and Cardinal Richelieu used a perfumed belows to sweeten the air of his apartment."

A fragrance may contain from a score to a hundred or more ingredients, and some women make a hobby of compounding their own perfumes.

"Anybody can make a perfume," said Welzel, whose trained nose can differentiate more than 500 odors. "But it is quite another matter to create one that will become classic."

Welzel feels perfume leadership has passed from France to the United States.

"The average American woman now spends $8 a year for perfume, which is more than French women can afford," he

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter about a man who committed suicide because of the insults and the smart cracks about a physical handicap which he was supposed to accept as jokes.

It might be useful if you would print a letter from an abnormal individual who knows only too well what it is like.

Here is my story: I have been extremely overweight since I was a young boy. I have undergone every test imaginable and the results are always the same—no organic problem. I am on a constant diet which keeps me at 400 pounds. This is all I can hope for.

I am employed by a small firm because the top companies in this field will not hire me. I can't get insurance. No girl will ever marry me. My best friend apologized for being unable to have me in his wedding party because I would "ruin the looks of the ceremony." I could write a book about the clothing industry and their treatment of oversized people. The only thing I can say about American cars is that they are better than foreign cars. I have to pay $5,000 for a car I can get into and drive.

The chairs in most theaters, restaurants and sports arenas make it impossible for me to enjoy a night out. If I fly I must travel first class since tourist seats are too small. Hotels and motels have turned me away because they were afraid I would break the beds and chairs. When I visit friends I am constantly being asked to "sit down." The truth is that very few chairs are built to support a person who weighs 400 pounds.

The Armed Forces turned me down. So did the Peace Corps. Excessively obese people can't even serve their country.

So you see, Ann, it isn't only the insults and jokes and the stares of little children that drive me to the brink. It's the denial of so many things most people take for granted. The worst of it is knowing that the future holds nothing for me but more of the same.—FREAK OF THE ENTIRE STATE

Dear Friend, While I sympathize with you, as I sympathize with all people who are wretchedly unhappy, I am baffled as to why you have resigned yourself to remaining a 400-pounder forever when the tests show no organic abnormalities. The obvious conclusion is that you are obese because you are a compulsive eater.

You did not ask for advice, but I would feel remiss in my duty if I did not offer it. Go to a psychiatrist and learn why you insist on maintaining this fortress of flesh around yourself. From whom are you hiding?

Dear Ann Landers: I am 15 but nobody would guess it. For over a year I have been served cocktails in several bars and no one has even asked to see my ID card.

My problem is a fellow who is 23. He looks like John Forsythe and we are in love. Unfortunately he has had some trouble with the law (not his fault) and my folks have told me I can't date him.

His parents like me and they say I am very good for him. They say if my folks throw me out I can live with them. How can I get my folks to be reasonable?—SAD TEEN

Dear Teen: You're going to be a lot sadder if you don't quit drinking cocktails and running around with a fellow who is five years too old for you.

Don't try to be a parole officer. And, furthermore, if you are smart you will listen to YOUR parents, not his.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (C) 1967, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate.

British Studios Thriving

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer LONDON (AP) — The British film industry is thriving as never before, and a major reason for the prosperity is the government's Eady Plan.

The English have had such success with the plan that film industries of other nations are eyeing it as a solution to their ills. The long-ailing German movie industry is seeking aid through government subsidy, and there is even talk of it in Hollywood.

Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, has acknowledged that the suggestion of a government or nongovernment subsidy is being studied.

The Eady Plan was instituted in the late 1940s, when war-battered Britain tightened up its imports to save precious pounds. The government levied a 75 per cent tax on U.S. films, causing American companies to stop sending their product. Deprived of films, theaters closed, and the entire English film business began sinking.

Harold Wilson, the president of the Board of Trade, instructed the board's permanent secretary, Sir Wilford Eady, to devise a solution.

It was this: Virtually every theater ticket sold in the United Kingdom would include a levy amounting to less than a penny. This money would go into a fund which would repay producers who made "British quota films." To qualify under the quota, a picture would need to pay between 75 to 80 per cent of its labor costs to British subjects or those living in British countries.

Eric Johnston, then head of the American producers, was unenthusiastic about the Eady Plan but accepted it to placate the English. It has proved a boon to British film makers but a thorn in the side of Hollywood labor leaders who claim the

Eady Plan encourages "runaway production."

It is problematical whether the Eady Plan has robbed Hollywood of specific films that could have been made in America. A few instances might be cited. But epithets like "runaway" can't stop the continuing trend of American companies seeking the advantages of the Eady Plan.

"The reason for our prosperity is that we're making pictures with American money," says British Bryan Forbes, now directing "Deadfall" with Michael Caine for 20th Century-Fox.

One of the provisions of the Eady Plan is that only two of a film's key personnel may be non-British. Often one star and the director will be American. But there is a growing colony of American producers who have become English residents to take advantage of the Eady Plan. One of these is Walter Shenson.

Mrs. Paul Frederick Fajen

Summer Wedding Unites Martha Gardner-Paul Fajen

Miss Martha Mae Gardner, daughter of Mrs. Monna Gradner, Warsaw, and Mr. Paul Frederick Fajen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhart Fajen, Warsaw, were united in marriage in a double ring candlelight ceremony at the Zion Lutheran Church on June 24.

The Rev. M. T. Duchow officiated before an altar setting of palm arrangements and chrysanthemums and pom poms.

Mrs. Kenneth Kammeyer, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Miss Linda Kingma.

Candles were lighted by Miss Sharon Patterson, cousin of the bride, and Miss Loretta Ferrara, Kansas City.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Bobbie Gardner,

Gassville, Ark., the bride wore a white floor length gown of bridal satin with a scooped neckline and bell shaped skirt. The sleeves tapered to points at the wrists and the chapel train fell from a bow at the waist. Lace inserts outlined with seed pearls accented the neckline and hemline of the skirt and train. Her veil of illusion was held by a white satin rose headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Harvey Edwards, Kansas City. Miss Ruth Ann Gardner served her sister as bridesmaid. Flower girl was Miss Stacy Dickenson, Calhoun.

Serving as best man was Mr. George David Lorton, Warrensburg, cousin of the groom, and Mr. Larry Fajen, Independence, was groomsmen. Ushers were Mr. James Gardner, brother of the bride, and Mr. Larry Halsey. Carrying the rings to the altar was Master Eric White, Kansas City.

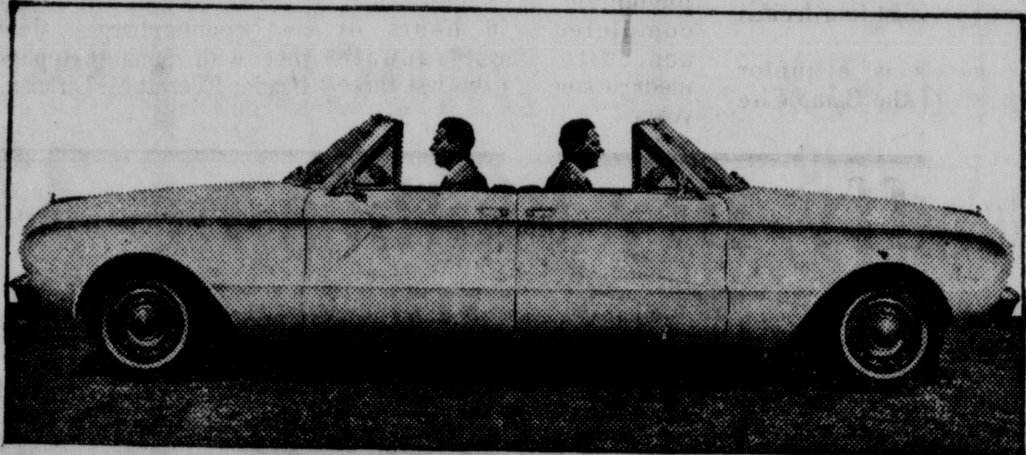

At the reception, following the ceremony, Mrs. Bobbie Gardner, Gassville, Ark., sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Bertha Ribando, Kansas City, and Mrs. Bill Halsey served. Miss Kay Lindsay attended the guest book and Miss Robando received the gifts. Attending the gift table were Miss Lyn Graham and Miss Peggy Needham, both of Kansas City.

After a wedding trip to Black Hills, S. D., the couple will be at home in Warsaw, where the groom is associated with his father at Reinhart Fajen's Gun Stocks.

FRUIT TOPPING is pert Elsa Miranda's taste in chapeaux and it's more than a fashion whim. Hers is the bouncy Latin voice of the Chiquita Banana jingle. In line of duty, she sports a collection of banana hats on personal appearances: top, a cluster of velvet bananas on a Breton of moss green straw braid; center, a velvet banana on brilliant peacock blue silk linen, and bottom, banana petals of yellow silk organza. Business, maybe, but also tasty fashion.

Fashion Tips

Newest from Paris

Newest item out of Paris is the long, long, much longer than midi coat over wide, wide pants. Fabrics are getting much softer and you can watch for a comeback of tweeds, especially the Donegal types. Colors for fall will be deeper and darker.

Summer Wiglets Popular

With the swimming season upon us, a wig or fall is nothing less than extremely useful. A woman can come right out from swimming and in two minutes look as if she just stepped out of the beauty parlor. Falls, demi-falls and wiglets will be the most popular for the summer months.

Interesting Table Top

Old book jackets can change an ordinary tabletop into a thing of interest. Paste the colorful book jackets to the table to give a montage effect. When dry, spray the surface with shellac from an aerosol can.

Versatile Door Mat

A really efficient door mat is half perforated rubber for scraping and half absorbent carpeting for drying. This mat can be kept in peak performance by scrubbing with a brush dipped into hot soap or detergent suds.

Restore Iron's Glide

When starch discolors the bottom of your iron, use the special paste cleaner for copper to remove it. Rub a thin paste in the iron, rinse out the sponge with clean water and wipe off the bottom of the iron until water forms in droplets. This film will make the iron slide easily.

Resurface Bridge Table

Is the old bridge table sagging? Cut a panel of plywood to size, sand down the surface and nail it to the top of the table. Finish the new top as desired.

Bleaching Lace Safely

Don't be afraid to bleach lace-trimmed pillow slips, dresser scarves or doilies. A new chlorine bleach in drybead form can be used to keep them white and bright. The bleach beads are safe for the finest threads.

Books Spark a Decor

Nothing adds to the lived-in, personal quality of a room like books. Book-lined walls add a warm feeling to any room, and there's nothing more decorative than bright, colorful book jackets—the more, the better.

Co-op Session Church Women Hold Sessions

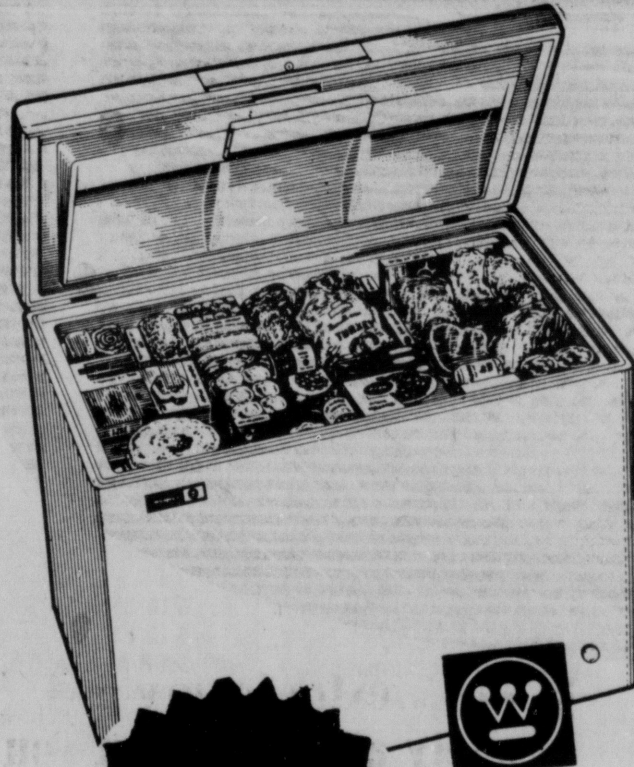

A one-day conference for Cooperative managers will be held in Sedalia on July 27 at the State Fair Restaurant.

Sponsored by Pettis County Cooperative Managers and the University Extension Center, the day's program will include the responsibilities of cooperative managers to directors, members, employees and the public. The afternoon session will be concerned with personnel supervision and development standards of performance.

BUS THAT BENDS will put a new wrinkle in Stockholm traffic early in 1968. The Swedish-built vehicle will hold 118 passengers and weighs 20 tons. Test driving has shown the "trailer" end connected by a turntable and accordion-type arrangement allows the bus to take the narrowest streets and sharpest corners much better than regular buses.

Brides Draining US Gold

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bride walking down the aisle and the rocket soaring into space are helping drain more gold from Treasury stocks this year than are foreign governments.

Use of gold is rising in everything from wedding rings to sophisticated and complex electronic and electrical circuits used in the defense and space programs.

During the first half of the year, the United States would have accumulated gold, the traditional monetary metal, had it not been for more than $60 million in sales by the Treasury to private industry. Heavy industrial use of silver already has resulted in a minor crisis but officials foresee none for gold.

Treasury policy is to sell gold at $35 an ounce to any foreign government wishing to cash in dollars. The Treasury earlier this month abandoned its policy of maintaining the price of silver at $1.29 an ounce.

The lack of French conversion of any dollars into gold since last September and the absence of any other large international gold transactions this year focused attention on domestic consumption.

Treasury officials say over-all domestic gold consumption last year hit a whopping $212 million compared with $97 million five years earlier.

This year the Treasury expects to sell more than $100 million in gold to domestic industry for the third straight year.

Officials give these reasons for the heavy demand:

—The increased population, with an ever-rising number of brides who demand wedding rings.

—Affluence of the population, which is increasing the demand for jewelry.

—Rising industrial use, espe-

Macon Man Is Fatally Injured

MACON, Mo. (AP) — Alfred Christianson, 28, of Macon, was fatally injured Monday night in a one-car accident on U. S. 36 two miles west of Macon.

The highway patrol said the car careened off the road and overturned twice, coming to rest on its top.

cially in the space and defense programs. An official said few people realize gold is an even better conductor of electricity than silver. Many government contracts now specify gold for electrical and electronic work.

Women Lack Equal Rights

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Mabel McClanahan is a trim, green-eyed, brown-haired businesswoman from Appleton, Wis., who believes that women have a long way to go to reach legal equality with men.

At the same time, she thinks men deserve a better break in divorce and alimony settlements.

That shows right there what a fair-minded woman is taking over the helm of the 178,000-member National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., at its annual convention this week.

Her organization "is working strongly for an equal-rights amendment to get equality for women," she says. "I don't think there can be a broad enough interpretation under the 14th Amendment."

"We women have to take a positive approach to show that we are capable of employment and of managing our own affairs."

Mrs. McClanahan has been managing her own affairs, for a good long time. A divorcee for 20 years, she brought up a son, who's now 29 and an airline pilot. He has been married six years and has yet to make her a grandmother, she says impatiently.

She is a leader in Appleton's business community. She works as secretary and business manager of Crane Engineering Sales, Inc., which means she handles accounting, cost analysis, tax consulting, purchasing, personnel development, customer relations and advertising for various companies and businesses. Before that she owned and managed a business service and a public stenography agency.

Her community service includes politics, and the hospital auxiliary, presiding at the taxpayers' association meetings, serving on her state advisory council to the Small Business Administration and spearheading the establishment of the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women in Wisconsin. She is an unpretentiously devout Lutheran.

Mrs. McClanahan thinks the general public misunderstands what women want.

"Our interest is in the same professional opportunities and legal rights as men. But I still like having doors opened for me, when it's a social occasion."

"But if it's in a business situation, I don't want them to open the door. I don't want them to watch their language. I want to be considered a member of the group. At the meeting, maybe, the men are a little wary of me, but they get over it. A woman sets the tone."

Missourians Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The daily casualty list issued Tuesday by the Department of Defense showed three Missourians killed in the Vietnam fighting:

Michael K. Boardman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Boardman of Sikeston. He was a lance corporal in the Marine Corps.

George Childress, son of Mrs. Glenda Childress of St. Louis. He was an Army corporal.

Stanley M. Dix, son of Mrs. Ella S. Dix of Afton. He was an Army specialist fourth-class.

Mothersbaugh Family Meets

The Mothersbaugh family reunion was held at Farrington Park July 23 with 34 members and visitors present.

Willis Mothersbaugh led in the prayer. Floyd Mothersbaugh was the oldest and his grandson, Michael, Jr., was the youngest present.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mothersbaugh and children, Russel, Lee Ann and Hope, Lee's Summit; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Higgin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Briggs and children, Mike and Robert of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Michael E. Mothersbaugh and son, Michael, Jr., Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Robert King, Houstonia; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mothersbaugh and son, Max; Mary Jane and Dale Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Roe and children, Charles and Brenda all of Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis, Adrian; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Woolery, Clinton; Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Richardson, Ralph Richardson and Mrs. Ray Crosslin of Sedalia.

Dr. Edwards is Re-elected

Dr. David R. Edwards, 700 South Limit, has been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of General Practice, the national association of family doctors.

Re-election signifies that the physician has successfully completed 150 hours of accredited postgraduate medical study in the last three years.

Leaders Haggle Over Political Riot Blame

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders are haggling over the political blame for big-city rioting as Congress moved ponderously to set up the machinery to investigate violence in the streets.

While committees discussed hearings and action on antirioting and inquiry measures, Democrats and Republicans accused each other of trying to reap political advantage out of the bloody destruction in Detroit and other urban areas.

Controversy boiled up Tuesday over whether President Johnson acted quickly enough in sending federal troops into Detroit's stricken areas and whether Republicans were playing politics in accusing Johnson of failing to deal adequately with racial disorders.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., told the Senate there had been an "unfortunate delay" between the time federal troops arrived in Michigan and when they were ordered into the streets. He said in that period additional lives were lost and property destroyed.

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma accused Republican leaders of "playing politics" in issuing a Republican Policy Coordinating Committee statement saying Johnson had failed to cope with the problem of civil disorders.

Amid an eruption of charges and countercharges, Johnson met with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, discussed "every angle" of multiple-city rioting and gave no indication of whether he favors a congressional investigation.

This was Dirksen's report as he offered a resolution to set up a Senate-House committee of 10 to inquire into the root causes of civil disorder and to recommend congressional action to curb further outbreaks.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford replied to Johnson's address to the nation at midnight Monday indicated "the President himself is getting politics involved in this tragic situation."

Johnson emphasized in his telecast that Michigan Gov. George Romney, a potential candidate for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, had asked for federal troops.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, another potential GOP candidate, said Johnson's speech "sounded like the kickoff to the 1968 campaign." At a Sacramento news conference Reagan said "there is a plan" behind the rioting which he said is carried out by "mad dogs."

Asked who is behind such a plan, Reagan said: "You'd have me guessing."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said this is no time to "find fault with the other party nor is it the time for any of us, regardless of party, to find fault with the President."

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., predicted the Senate Judiciary Committee would decide today on procedure to be followed in handling a House-passed bill making crossing a state line to incite a riot a federal offense.

Rep. Albert Watson, R-S.C., urged the House Committee on Un-American Activities to investigate what he called subversive activities in the riots. He said Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has not enforced the law and should resign.

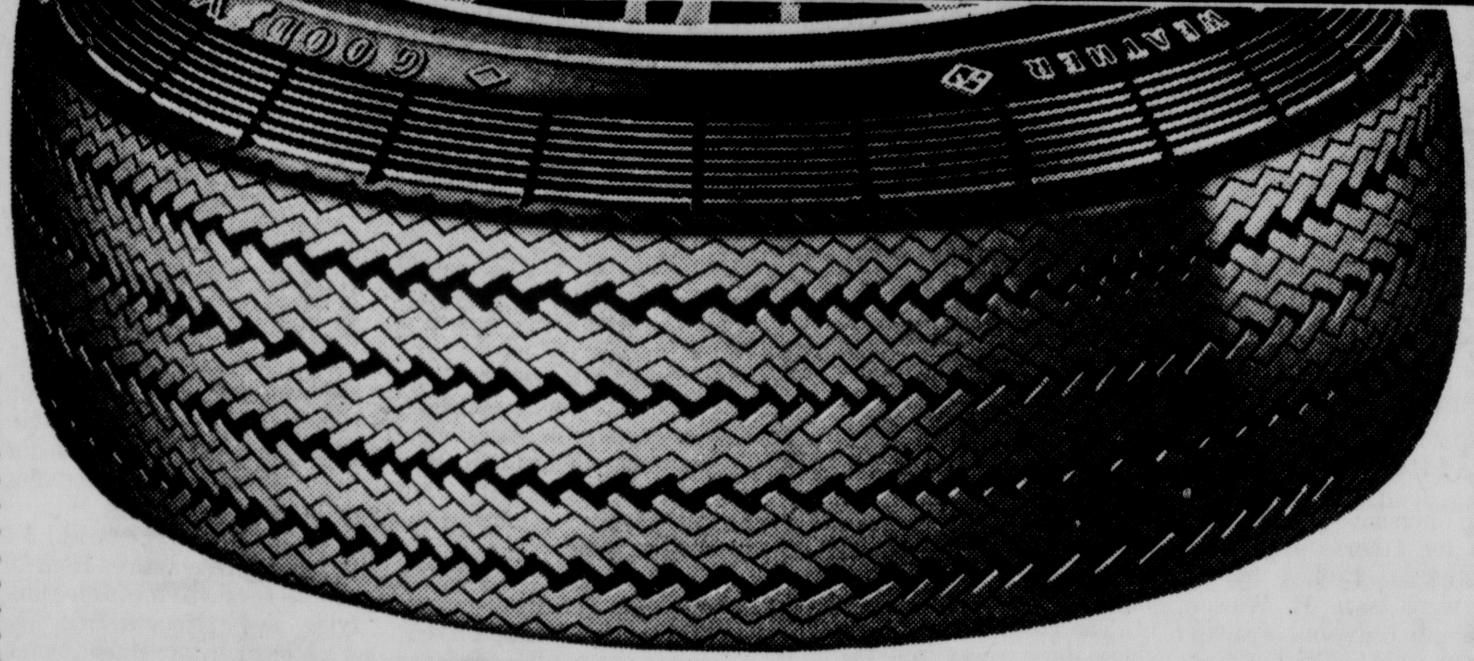

Government sources said the FBI has not investigated any civil disturbance because no violations of federal law have been reported and the agency feels it lacks authority to investigate.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wrote in Reader's Digest that a "shameful outcropping of lawlessness" in city rioting must be dealt with sternly lest it lead to anarchy and destroy the nation.

"Personal or social problems cannot be solved by violence and defiance of authority," he said.

"I have the utmost sympathy for any person who has never had a decent chance in life," Eisenhower said. "But the fact that society has treated him badly does not give him the right to smash a store window and take what he wants, or to attack our police with animal ferocity."

Distribution of the National Bellas Hess Fall catalogue has begun, and circulation will be the largest in the history of the 79-year old company, according to Jewel Ellis, manager of the Bellas Hess Catalogue Store at 114 South Ohio. The company is one of the five largest mail order-retail firms in the nation.

Costs Of Rioting Mounting

DETROIT (AP) — The cost of rioting in the three-county Detroit metropolitan area eventually could reach $1 billion, predicts Dwight Havens, president of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce.

"We're using a ballpark figure on this," he said in an interview.

"It's really such a guesstimate at this point I'm almost embarrassed to cite it," he said, "but we can see where the total dollar estimate might reach a billion dollars."

"Beyond this," he added, "you've got your costs that are directly involved in the looting itself. There's material that is either stolen or damaged beyond recall. There's obviously going to be a large loss of tax revenue. We are estimating that the total loss in retail sales alone may be $60 million."

Havens explained that the projection is based on the year's anticipated total volume proportioned down to three days — which assumes that there will be no more pillaging. If there is more which seems likely, the estimate will rise.

Payroll loss? "We can't even get a guess from the major employers at this time," Havens said. "They just sort of chuckle sadly."

"If this had happened at a different time, when the auto companies were operating at full steam, this could have been much worse than it is," he said. He said giant General Motors is in the middle of its model changeover and almost no production is going on.

Although absenteeism is high — up to 65 per cent in one Ford plant — production is more or less under way in the auto industry. Three Chrysler plants which had been closed were reopened Tuesday, with absenteeism running about 50 per cent. The night shift was cut to four hours because of the 9 p.m. curfew, and the overnight shift was eliminated.

Ford opened all its facilities except the Dearborn assembly plant. Not enough workers showed up there to keep the production line running.

Contract negotiations with the United Auto Workers union, canceled for 24 hours Monday because of the disturbances, resumed Tuesday with the Big Three automakers.

Standings

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Steve Beck nipped his second no-hitter of the season Tuesday night as Jefferson City blanked Sedalia 4-0 in a Central Missouri Ban Johnson League baseball game.

Beck, whose in his first no-hitter victim also was Sedalia, marked up 19 strikeouts as his team moved to within a game of the Sedalia team.

Sedalia now has a 13-3 record, while Jefferson City, the defending champion, stands 12-4. Each has five games to play. Other Tuesday night results: Booneville 9, Centralia 0; Marshall 9, Tipton 0; Columbia 8, Lexington 4; Sedalia plays Lexington Sunday. Curt Beerman, Lexington's player-manager, is leading the league in hitting with .422 and Dennis Droege of Lexington is the leading pitcher with a 5-0 mark.

The other standings: Lexington 9-5; Marshall 8-6; Booneville 9-6; Columbia 7-8; Centralia 2-14; Tipton 1-13.

Window Is Open For Burglars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Everett Gardner and his wife know all about burglars.

Their restaurant in Los Angeles was burglarized three times and held up eight times before they decided to go to a quiet place and start over.

In Hemet, Calif., shortly after their restaurant opened two years ago, a burglar used a crowbar to break down the door.

Since then, their place has been burglarized five times. Each time the kitchen door was broken down.

The Gardners have a new sign on the door which says: "Robbers: no crowbars, please."

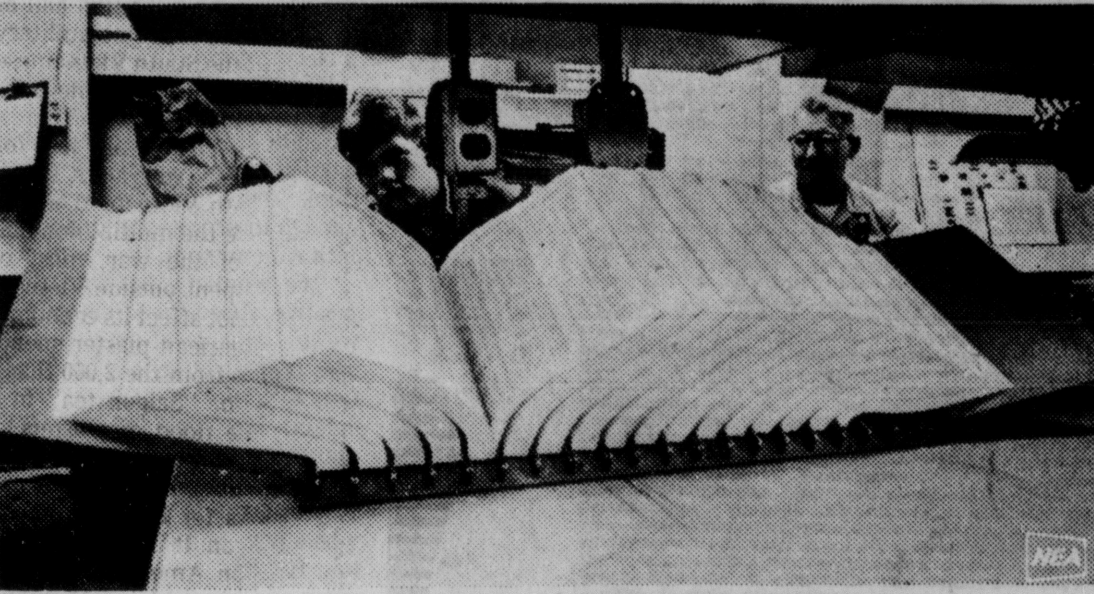

"Kitchen window is open. Thanks a bunch."

Magistrate Court

Harry Oscar Pennington and Raymond Pennington, Sedalia, both charged in state complaints signed by Prosecuting Attorney Henry Keeler with second degree burglary and stealing, had their preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court Wednesday and were bound over for trial in Circuit Court.

Bond was set at $4,000 each. The charges followed a break-in at the Hilltop Tire Service, July 23. Among those testifying was Lawrence Collins, 813 East Broadway, owner of the firm, who identified the two men to the court.

Seven tires, valued at about $75 by the owner, were recovered from a car by local authorities.

The word slogan originated as a war cry or gathering cry of the Scottish clans.

Police Court

Four persons forfeited $10 bonds for failure to purchase city stickers. Named by the court were Isaac E. Wasson, 1208 South Harrison; Franklin Lindsey, 1211 East Third; Dwayne May, 1812 East Broadway; Jerry W. Davis, 815 East 13th.

Eight persons forfeited $2 bonds for non-moving traffic violations, police court records show. Named were Sherry Wasson, 3701 South Kentucky; Robert A. Harper, Carrollton; Gerald Durnell, 900 State Fair; Earl Lashley, 119 East Third; Ron Schenewark, Houstonia; James Vinson, 517 East 27th; Walter H. Kraft, Hughesville; Bud Allison, 218 West Seventh, two bonds.

Mary G. Semkin, 2212 West Third, driving while intoxicated, forfeited a $75 bond.

Jerry Allen Collins, 215 East Tenth, loud and unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle, forfeited a $10 bond.

Estil Weir, Kansas City, disturbance of the peace, forfeited a $50 bond.

Hazel Johnson, Forsythe, Mo., petty larceny, forfeited a $25 bond.

Curtis Keightly, General Delivery, Sedalia, petty larceny, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in the city jail.

Walter C. Jennings, 812 West Fourth, careless and imprudent driving, pleaded innocent but was found guilty and fined $10.

Sheriff Report

A LaMonte woman is being held in the Pettis County jail for investigation following an incident Tuesday night in which a 38 cal. firearm was allegedly discharged at a youth in LaMonte.

Pettis County Sheriff Emmet Fairfax said Wednesday morning charges had not been filed. The youth escaped injury, Fairfax said.

Accidents

A two-car accident occurred at Broadway and Massachusetts at 11:59 p.m. Monday.

Involved were a 1963 Chevrolet, driven south on Massachusetts by Donald Roy Kass, 25, 640 East 11th, and a 1962 Rambler, driven west on Broadway by Elmer Brown, 62, 3001 South Ohio.

Damage occurred to the front end of the Chevrolet, and to the right front side of the Rambler.

A hit-and-run accident occurred at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at 313 East Jefferson. Damage was to the rear end of a parked 1962 Pontiac, owned by Clarence Flewellen.

A two-car accident occurred at 1000 West Broadway at 1:49 p.m. Tuesday.

Involved in the accident were a 1965 Falcon stationwagon, driven west on Broadway by James Everett, 47, 1121 West 16th, and a 1962 Volkswagen driven west on Broadway by Mike Maple, 19, 721 West Fourth.

Freed On Bond In Tractor Case

Albert B. Carr, 18, Route 2, one of three men charged with stealing over $50 in a case involving a farm tractor, was freed on $1,000 bond Tuesday afternoon, according to Sheriff Emmett Fairfax.

The other two men, Joseph Sisemore, 18, Route 3, and William J. Young, 17, 1601 East 13th, were freed on similar bonds earlier Tuesday.

The three face theft charges connected with a tractor reported stolen west of the State Fairgrounds and driven across town early Saturday. The vehicle came to a stop against the Leroy Dillon Home, Route 5, with the motor still running. The vehicle was in low gear, causing the rear wheels to churn into the ground. No serious damage was done to the house.

De Gaulle

The opposition leader, Conservative John Diefenbaker, called it "a diplomatic concoction of generalities which fail entirely to meet the situation." He had urged a stern reprimand and said De Gaulle should be told to make no more public speeches in Canada.

Warren Allmand, one of Pearson's Liberal party members of Parliament, said De Gaulle should be told to leave Canada at once.

Newspapers across Canada ran angry editorials labeling De Gaulle's remarks an insult, a deliberate affront, interference in Canadian affairs, inflammatory advice to young hotheads, encouragement of subversion, an attempt to divide the country and abuse of hospitality. Two French papers in Montreal defended the general.

Some Paris papers joined in the attacks. The independent, influential Le Monde asked: "How can one not be concerned at this brutal intervention in the internal affairs of a state?" The leftist Combat demanded: "By what right has he become judge, arbiter and instigator of Quebec's destiny?"

Seemingly unperturbed by the storm, De Gaulle spent Tuesday at Expo 67. It was French Day at the world's fair and he received cheers and only scattered boos.

Violence In Revolt Inevitable

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A Negro Quaker, whose religion historically has condemned violence and stressed peaceful reconciliation of conflicts, said today that "violence is inevitable in the revolution" to establish justice for Negro Americans.

Barrington Dunbar, a New York social worker and representative of the American Friends Service Committee to the recent Black Power conference in Newark, N.J., said the conference made clear that the present situation "demands militancy."

"It demands revolutionary tactics rather than accommodation to the system that has been brutal and violent so far as the Negro is concerned," he told delegates to a world conference of Quakers.

In his report, outlined to newsmen in advance, Dunbar also predicted that the recent chain of urban rioting would "continue all summer. You just can't control and direct a revolution in a straight line. People just don't behave that way."

Dunbar, a lean and articulate man, said that as a Quaker he opposes the violence and personally "could not participate" in such methods. But he said it serves a "useful purpose in alerting the American people" to the abject conditions of Negro lives.

"What is being done by snipers from the rooftops in Detroit is not more serious than what we're doing in Vietnam in the name of freedom and defending democracy," he said.

Dunbar's report came as 1,300 Quaker representatives from 38 nations reviewed means for unifying and strengthening the work of their movement, noted for its antiwar influence and humanitarian service.

Dunbar said he was "shocked and surprised at the anger" manifested at the Black Power conference. "Unless there's more willingness to share power with Negroes, our country is in for real trouble," he said.

He called for massive programs to correct the past damage done on a scale comparable to allied reconstruction efforts after World War II in devastated Germany, where Dunbar served at the time aiding former prisoners of war.

Dunbar said the programs in behalf of Negroes should include building of decent homes, schools and churches to eliminate the city slums.

World News

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union assured Cuba today that it would continue providing economic and military aid to Fidel Castro's Communist regime. Soviet aid to Cuba is believed to be running about $400 million a year.

The assurance was given in a message on Cuba's National Uprising Day, the 14th anniversary of Castro's first unsuccessful attempt to launch a revolution.

The message was signed by the three top Soviet leaders: Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nikolai V. Podgorny, and Premier Alexie N. Kosygin.

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)

— Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung probably rebuffed Romanian efforts to reconcile Moscow and Peking, Western and East European observers concluded after Romanian Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer made a speech Tuesday without mentioning his recent trip to China.

Informed sources said Maurer had been able to talk only with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai for a brief time on his June trip. Romania has been charting an independent course despite Soviet efforts to keep it closely allied. Maurer met with President Johnson four weeks ago and disclosed Tuesday that he had expressed the Romanian government's hope for closer relations with the United States.

Shortages May Result In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The old Negro man carried a burlap bag over his bent shoulders. He woked his way to the front of the line at the church on 12th Street.

"I want some milk," he said, his hand clenching the bag as though it might escape.

The food line stretched out the door and onto the lawn. A woman in a yellow blouse and khaki men's trousers held a large, pink shopping bag. A boy, about 7, pulled a red wagon with an empty basket and cardboard box in it. Others in the line clutched cardboard boxes or brown paper bags.

"We got the idea last night," said the Rev. Robert L. Potts, chairman of the Virginia Park Rehabilitation Project which had collected food to dispense to residents of Detroit's West Side, the area hit hardest by rioting that had killed more than a score and injured hundreds.

These were the other victims of the violence and plunder that had turned block after block of the West Side into smoking ruins and wrecked stores, gaping empty, windows shattered and smashed, shelves cleaned off or cluttered amid litter and debris.

They lived in the tenements, apartments and houses off 12th Street. "We didn't burn anything," a woman said. But now there were no nearby grocery stores left to provide food. Many families feared to travel far or had little gasoline left because of travel restrictions and shutdown service stations.

Long stretches of Grand River, 12th and 14th streets lay raw, stretches of incredible destruction, fingers of litter and rubble, smouldering hulks, shattered glass.

"They're going to really suffer after this," said a Negro woman, Mrs. Milton Jones, neatly dressed in shorts and blouse. She stood outside the church. "Stealing, breaking into stores," she went on, surveying the littered street.

Did she know why it all happened?

Mrs. Jones shook her head. "I have no idea."

A social worker who had been busy on the West Side said only a few grocery stores were open around 12th Street.

"But they were out of the staples, milk and bread. We drove to the suburbs but the panic buying cleaned them out," she said.

"The food problem is critical."

About 400 food stores were destroyed in the burning and looting, said Edward Deeb, executive director of the Food Dealers of Greater Detroit.

Food industry spokesmen said, however, that there was ample food available and no shortage would develop unless panic buying became general. Some stores were out of bread, milk and some kinds of meat.

Churches and other relief agencies were receiving food and clothing from such distant cities as Monroe, on the Michigan-Ohio border nearly 60 miles away, and from Marine City, about 50 miles to the northeast.

Homes for the refugees were provided by white families in northwest Detroit.

"The refugees are a problem," he said. "We know they are there. But the people are scared. They're afraid of the snipers and of the police. They are hiding somewhere, but we haven't been able to get them to come here."

The other victims were there, the hungry, homeless, the frightened people and the innocent who could only wonder why.

Billy Rose Was Within His Rights

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge has upheld Billy Rose's avoidance of taxes on the bulk of his estate.

Surrogate S. Samuel DiFalco ruled Tuesday that the late showman was within his rights in leaving most of his estate, estimated between $25 million and $50 million, to a foundation bearing his name.

A sister, Miriam Stern of Manhattan, had protested the will, contending that Rose's "attempt to insure tax deductibility of his charitable gifts is against public policy."

Rose died at 66 in February.

His will gave the income from a $100,000 trust to Mrs. Stern. A second sister, Polly Gottlieb of Beverly Hills, Calif., was left $50,000 and the income from a $1 million trust. The sisters made an unsuccessful attempt to break the will last year.

Brown Eludes Search

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — H. Rap Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, continued to elude a nationwide FBI search today. He is wanted on charges of complicity in a Negro riot here.

Two civil rights leaders from Baltimore are touring the riot area to discuss the situation with Gen. George M. Gelston, commander of Maryland's National Guard, which has some 700 troops in the city.

Walter Lively of the Union for Jobs and Income Now—UJOIN—said he and Stuart Wechsler, assistant project director for the Congress of Racial Equality in Baltimore, want to see what state and city officials are doing for the people in the riot-torn 2nd Ward.

Brown was named Tuesday in state warrants charging him with inciting a riot and "counselling and procuring the burning of the Pine Street Elementary School."

He spoke to a crowd of 400 for 45 minutes Monday night. About an hour later, 1,000 Negroes rioted for two hours and a fire spread along two blocks of Pine Street, destroying about a dozen buildings. Volunteer firemen refused to enter the Negro district and extinguish the blaze.

Brown came to Cambridge from Newark, N.J., where he attended the Black Power conference.

A federal fugitive warrant was also issued charging Brown with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. The warrant permits the FBI to arrest Brown anywhere in the country and return him without going through extradition proceedings.

After meeting with Gelston, Lively said that "Black-Power oriented organizations are going to have to throw real support behind people of the 2nd Ward."

FCC Asked To Suspend Its Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission was asked by two associations Tuesday to suspend its inquiry into community antenna television (CATV).

The National Association of Broadcasters urged the FCC to delay its investigation until Congress takes action. National Community Television Inc., which represents CATV systems, said the inquiry should be dropped because the FCC has no regulatory powers over CATV.

About 40 other broadcasters and CATV system operators sent comments to the FCC in connection with the inquiry into the industry.

The FCC's regulation of CATV systems is being challenged in the courts, and a U. S. Court of Appeals in Washington recently ruled the FCC does have such powers.

Board Lets Railroads Negotiate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special White House mediation board is letting railroad and shopcraft negotiators try to hammer out agreement-at least for the moment.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the special panel named by President Johnson last week after Congress rushed through a bill ending a two-day nationwide rail strike, said Tuesday the board will leave negotiations to the disputants until at least next Monday.

Under the new law, the board is to attempt to win a voluntary settlement. But if it can't, both sides would have to accept the board's final recommendations as binding until Jan. 1, 1969.

Some 137,000 members of six shopcraft unions, who average $2.90 an hour, have demanded a six per cent wage hike this year and five per cent next year. They also demand that a two-year agreement include 12.5-cent boosts each year for skilled workers, who now average $3.05 hourly.

The railroads are offering an 18-month pact that calls for an over-all six per cent pay boost plus a single skills boost of five cents an hour.

Watching Vietnam Kindness

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — "The big spenders from the West" are making a serious effort not to kill South Vietnam with kindness.

The 466,000 U.S. troops and the other Americans here are being pushed, prodded and even ordered to spend as few South Vietnamese piasters as possible, to avoid a catastrophic inflation that could do almost as much harm to the country as the war.

Even with the piaster-control program instituted by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Americans, officially and individually, spent more than seven billion piasters more in the first half of 1967 than the entire nonmilitary budget of the South Vietnamese government for the same period.

The U.S. figures are just for piasters that Americans spend inside South Vietnam. They do not include the multibillion-dollar cost of the war, most of which is spent outside Vietnam and does not affect its economy.

The American piaster spending ranges from the 2,000 that a GI pays for "Saigon tea" in a bar to the flood of piasters, a total amounting to about $20 million, that the U.S. government pays for billets in downtown Saigon. It includes the 500 piasters an American sergeant pays for an ao dai, a Vietnamese dress, to send to his girl friend in Chicago, as well as the 7.7 billion piasters that the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) spends as a small part of its aid program here.

A dollar can be exchanged for 117 piasters at the official rate.

The giant U.S. construction program that accompanied the major increase in troops during the past year also poured great amounts of piasters into the economy with the hiring of tens of thousands of Vietnamese workers.

The glut of new piasters in the economy could have only one effect. Prices have jumped about 160 per cent since January, 1965. This year alone they are expected to rise 40 per cent.

To Name Top Tabby

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The alley cats, fat cats and running cats have been sorted. The jewel-studded tiara is being polished. Either George, Pepper, Rasputin or Omar Khayyam will become America's top tabby tonight.

But before he, or she, gets the crown as the All-American glamour kitty of 1967, there will be such strong points of competition as mouse chasing, paper bag investigation, climbing and ball rolling.

Four finalists, chosen from national entries, are in the running for the title now held by Snoball, a frisky all-white feline owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Primoff of Mt. Rainier, Md.

The four are George, Pepper, Rasputin and Omar Khayyam.

George is a one-year-old female owned by Mary Jane Richardson of Statesville, N.C.

Pepper is a "mostly alley" cat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Al Frisbie, of Omaha, Neb. Mrs. Frisbie thinks Pepper's personality will be his strong point.

A year-and-a-half-old Siamese, Rasputin, is called a "party boy" by his owner, Dorothy Towle of Braintree, Mass. She says he likes to dress up whenever she throws a little soiree.

Hunting is Omar Khayyam's feature most likely to impress the judges. His owner, Mrs. Harold Geary of North East, Pa., says he once tackled a rabbit as big as himself.

Final judging takes place today and the winner will be crowned tonight at a coronation ball to be held in the Eoom Boom Room of the plush Fontainebleau Hotel.

Money Is Taken By A Motorist

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Apartment house manager James H. Anderson told police he was standing in the parking lot of a bank Tuesday, carrying a plastic bag with $3,000 in cash and checks ready for deposit, when he stopped to light a cigar.

Suddenly, as a car whizzed by the motorist reached out and snatched the bag from Anderson's hand and sped away.

Says St. Louis Needs New Airport

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The congestion at Lambert-St. Louis Field threatens to become so bad that the city needs a second airport "if St. Louis is to become a dynamic center," Mayor A. J. Cervantes said Tuesday.

Cervantes made the comment at a news conference when he announced plans to spend $188.6 million to develop a second major airport in the area and expand and improve existing facilities at Lambert.

The financing will come from $182.6 million in revenue bonds with the rest coming from expected cash on hand, Cervantes said. He added that the revenue bonds "won't cost the taxpayers a cent."

Walter Malloy, the director of public utilities for St. Louis, said, "We have an idea for a site for the new airport but we're not in a position to announce it."

He added that the expansion of existing facilities at Lambert would include building of new roadways, extension and improvement of runways, increased capacity for air traffic and a new terminal.

Voodooism

Voodoo is still practiced in Haiti. The mystical ceremony, which is African in origin, begins at midnight and ends at dawn. Drums beat hypnotically when participants dance and, at the climax, worshippers test their faith by dipping hands into pots of boiling oil.

Government Has Shown 'No Courage'

HALLTOWN, Mo. (AP)—Gene Taylor, Republican national committeeman for Missouri, said Tuesday night the Johnson administration does not have the "courage to withstand political blackmail by a small minority of radical outlaws."

Taylor spoke at a Lawrence County Republican meeting in Halltown. He referred to recent racial troubles in Detroit and elsewhere.

"The time is long past due when the administration must determine whether people are entitled to protection of their lives and property from hoodlums who are leaving our streets in shambles," Taylor said.

"The Johnson administration has not demonstrated the courage to withstand the political blackmail by a small minority of radical outlaws. It is time the national administration returns to the basic premise that our nation was founded on the principle of government by law and not by mob rule."

Receives Bricks Of Marijuana

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Curiosity got the better of Mary MacDonald when the postman handed her a package carrying her home as the return address.

She paid the $1.85 postage due Tuesday, opened the package and found three bricks of marijuana worth more than $6,000 on the illegal market.

Mrs. MacDonald turned the marijuana over to police, saying she had no idea why her address had been put on the package, returned unclaimed from Honolulu general delivery.

Pulling Taxpayer's Leg

We didn't think Governor Warren E. Hearnes would do it. But he did. He signed a bill to raise the pay of Missouri legislators from $4,800 to $8,400 effective October 13 THIS YEAR.

At least that's the intention of a $525,000 boost in pay for members of the General Assembly who included this amount in a catch-all appropriation bill during the twilight hours of the last session. At the time this seemed like an arrogant posture to cram a pay raise down the taxpayers' throats this year.

Custom long has dictated that pay raises legislators vote for themselves are not effective during their term of office.

Skeptics already are questioning this procedure as not only unethical but also unconstitutional. The state comptroller has asked an opinion on this from the attorney general on the basis that under the constitution an elected official cannot receive a pay raise during his term of office.

Maybe the senators and representatives will get their pay raise this year, but if they do it establishes an inappropriate precedent to say the least.

We just wonder a bit if the governor doesn't feel the same way about it and wouldn't be too upset if the attorney general ruled in favor of the people.

If the repairs are made before this comes out in the Democrat-Capitol then the street and alley department may be credited with having extra sensory perception, or improved eyesight.

We refer to those two big chuckholes in the pavement on the southeast corner of the intersection at Missouri avenue and Third street. They are almost impossible to dodge and are a menace to tires. Formerly Missouri avenue accommodated Highway 65 through town, but we doubt if the state will plug these holes now, so the city may be expected to do the job real soon.

Cold statistics have abolished another myth. The latest is the one that holds that babies are almost always born in the wee, small hours of the morning.

'Taint so. Women's Medical News Service reports on a study of births in New York City by doctor of science Carl L. Erhardt.

He found that only 35 out of 1,362 babies were born between 2 and 3 a.m. The largest number were born between noon and 1 p.m.

For some reason, first babies are likely to be born at any time of day or night. But if the mother has had previous children, subsequent little strangers are more likely to arrive between 9 a.m. and noon.

"By no means are most babies born in the middle of the night," says Erhardt. "Mothers can now relax."

TRAINING ARAB PILOTS—

On June 27, Pearson and Anderson reported that the U.S. training of Arab pilots in the United States was continuing despite the severance of diplomatic relations.

On July 18 this became the subject of congressional debate by Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., and Rep. Lester L. Wolff, D-N.Y., who demanded that the training of Arab pilots stop.

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—Vice President Humphrey, who is LBJ's unofficial behind-the-scenes liaison man on race problems, has been working around the clock on ways of getting Negro teenagers off the streets.

He's been pushing all sorts of projects, ranging from Army, Navy and Marine band concerts in the slum areas of Washington to free jet rides by the major airlines for Negro teenagers.

His chief drive, however, has been to persuade private companies to sponsor block recreation facilities in Negro sections of cities and to persuade the National Guard to open up armories and summer camps.

One company, American Machine and Foundry, for instance, has undertaken to supply playground equipment, which is carted into a city block in the evening and put in use on a slum street roped off from traffic. Fireplugs are tapped under firemen's supervision and the whole street, one block long, becomes a playground area.

Humphrey has also persuaded the National Guard and the Pentagon to open armories and military bases as youth camps. The Red River Army Depot at Texarkana, Tex., has opened a day camp on its five-acre depot at Elliott Lake. Kelly Air Force Base at San Antonio has opened its swimming pools and playing fields to teenagers two mornings each week. Fort Ritchie, Md., will provide barracks, mess halls, and recreation facilities for 720 Baltimore boys. Fort Benning, Ga., has donated classrooms and a library for head start classes.

Humphrey points out that the administration has helped get one million jobs for unemployed youths this summer. Of these the government itself provided 250,000 jobs, while private employers came up with 750,000. The Vice President says this is not enough, but it's better than the record for any previous summer.

—RESNICK'S FARM RACKET—

Here in Washington, Rep. Joe Resnick, D-N.Y., was slapped down by the House Agriculture Committee for criticizing the Farm Bureau, but out in the midwest his campaign has won a lot of friends.

Resnick pointed out that the Farm Bureau was nothing but a glorified conglomeration of tax-free business and insurance companies operating under the cloak of helping the farmer.

Additional information has recently come from Illinois showing that the Farm Bureau in that state has 193,000 members. Yet there are only 132,000 farms in Illinois and only 120,000 farm operators. Therefore, the membership in the Farm Bureau must include about 70,000 non-farmers.

Resnick claims that anyone who wants to buy insurance with one of the Farm Bureau agencies signs up for the insurance policy and then, as a side issue, gets membership in the Farm Bureau. It's simply a glorified means of selling insurance, says Resnick.

before, besides increasing the money appropriated. In fact, we've doubled the appropriations for higher education in the last two years."

Aid to education was increased approximately $25 million. About 10 million of that is increased aid made available by a change in the school foundation formula (a system whereby the state allocates money to different districts.) Added to the formula was state aid to kindergartens and aid based on current average daily attendance. Rapidly growing schools will be able to base this attendance on projected, rather than current figures. For vocational education, the Legislature appropriated 2 million.

In the area of new legislation, programs and services is a retirement program which Keith calls, "one of the truly good retirement programs in the country." In order to streamline and update the education system, a Missouri School District Reorganization Commission was formed. Its master plan and recommendations will be submitted to the 1969 General Assembly. Also beneficial to the school districts is a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting requirement for passage of bond issues. Revenue bonds would require a simple majority rather than 57 per cent for passage and general obligation bonds would pass with 60 per cent rather than two-thirds approval. More liberal requirements would insure the passage of more school bonds.

Although education bills fared well in the last session, Keith and Vanlandingham are quick to point out that enormous needs remain. The Senator hasn't forgotten the state ranking and needs not refer to notes when he says "The state must spend approximately 70 million more to reach the national average."

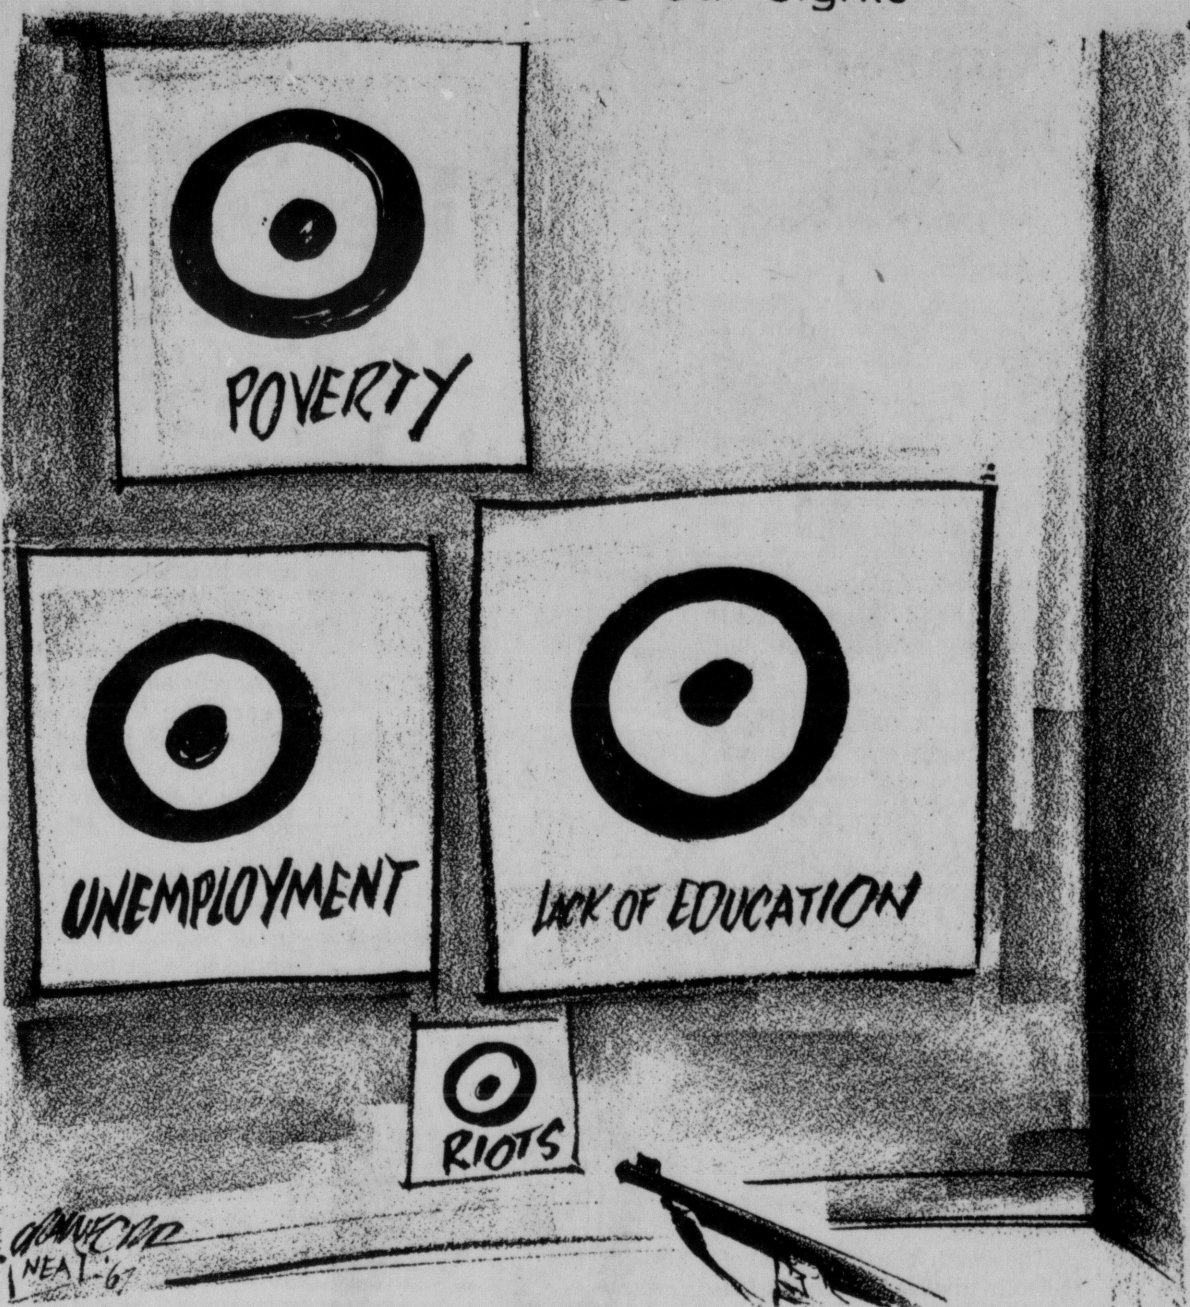

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q - I just opened a gas station and have to file employment tax returns on which I must show an employer identification number. Can I use my Social Security number as my employer identification number?

A - No. If you are liable for business taxes you must obtain an employer identification number even if you have a Social Security number. Your Social Security number should be used on your individual income tax return and not on business tax returns.

To get an employer identification number use Form SS-4 available at local IRS and Social Security offices. This number must be shown on all business returns as well as Schedule C of your individual return.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Cancer Virus Suspected, But Contagion Unproved

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My doctor says I have had a virus in my blood stream for several years. I have a fever most of the time that may reach 103. How can I get rid of it?

A—Although some viruses may remain inactive in the body for several years before causing an acute illness, I know of no virus that will cause a fever to persist for more than a few weeks without causing death or immaturity. What kind of virus does your doctor say you have?

Q—How is ECHO virus transmitted? How can one avoid getting a relapse?

A—The ECHO viruses are discharged from the intestines and may be transmitted through contaminated food or water. Once they enter the body they may affect the digestive tract, respiratory tract or the nervous system. Recovery is usually complete but, although the attack confers some immunity against the virus type responsible, a person remains susceptible to other types of ECHO virus.

An attack with a different ECHO virus would not, strictly speaking, be a relapse. Hydroxybenzyl benzimidazole and quinine are effective against these viruses. No specific preventive measures have been worked out as yet since the recognition of these viruses is fairly recent.

Q—Since some kinds of cancer are caused by a virus, how can you be sure it isn't contagious?

A—Viruses are of many kinds and act in many ways. Although leukemia is believed by many to be caused by a virus, careful studies have failed to show that it is transmitted directly from one victim to another. How it is transmitted has not yet been determined.

Q—Is there any difference between depression and insanity? Is there any help for severe depression?

A—Although depression is a prominent symptom of two types of mental disease—the melancholia of old age and manic-depressive psychosis with its violent swings of mood—a mildly depressed mood affects everyone at times. There are many causes of depression and several drugs that are helpful in selected cases. Before any drug is given for it, however, the type and cause of the depression should be determined. Most simple depressions can be overcome without drugs by getting more exercise, more rest and becoming involved in the service of others.

Q—I have high blood pressure and am taking Hydroses tablets. Will they help me?

A—This combination of hydrochlorothiazide (a diuretic) and reserpine (a tranquilizer) is very effective in reducing high blood pressure. It should not be taken by anyone with liver or heart disease.

Q—I am taking Aldoril and Apressoline for high blood pressure. What are their side effects?

A—Aldoril is a combination of hydrochlorothiazide and methyldopa (a blood pressure reducer). The side effects of the former include jaundice, gout, nausea, diarrhea, dizziness and skin rash. Methyldopa may cause headache, dizziness, weakness, weight gain due to water logging and diarrhea. Hydralazine (Apressoline) may cause rapid pulse, headache, dizziness and depression. Despite this imposing list of side effects these drugs are safe and effective if used under proper medical supervision.

Today's hand created no excitement at all when played in a rubber bridge game in Dallas. South won the spade opening and went about the business of making his two-heart contract. He would have made three if he had played West for four trumps to the ace-ten but South wasn't psychic.

South told us about the hand because West is one of those players who never makes a mistake and who seldom wins because they sit back and let their opponents steal hand after hand from them.

Somehow or other, if West had entered the bidding, his side would have played some spade contract. They might have worked their way up to game. If they had, they might have been set one trick. With West as declarer it is necessary that North open a low club so that South can take the first spade and get a club ruff. With East as declarer, it is necessary that South open a club and North duck. Either defense is possible, but not likely.

In any event four spades down one isn't worse than letting your opponents make two hearts.

Now let's look at the West hand. We don't feel that he should enter the bidding right over the one-heart opening. On the other hand we wouldn't criticize a double or a one-spade overcall. In fact we would recommend a one-spade overcall, in spite of holding only a four-card suit.

However, his first pass wasn't too bad. Later on he had two chances to get into the act. He could have doubled or bid two spades over South's two-diamond call. Once more we aren't going to take strong issue with that second pass but when the bidding came back to him at two hearts he had what we consider an automatic two-spade call. Not only had North and South shown weakness but they were obviously short in spades and West could be sure that he would be safe if he bid two spades at that time.

Hoover Standing On Long Record

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI was a pretty crummy outfit when he took it over, full of political pets and incompetents. He quickly built it into an American institution. It's been that way since.

In three years he had cleaned out the misfits and put it on its feet. This has been a great satisfaction to J. Edgar Hoover but peace of mind doesn't always accompany satisfaction.

He has been picked and pecked at almost from the beginning. Some times he has reacted with heat. Much of the criticism has been ludicrous.

Hoover had been a lawyer with the Department of Justice seven years when he was chosen at 29 to head the Bureau of Investigation, which wasn't called the Federal Bureau of Investigation until 1935.

He is 72 now and today is the 50th anniversary of the start of his government service. He has headed the FBI 43 years. In the government, retirement is mandatory at 70 but in his case President Johnson waived that requirement.

He set the course the FBI has followed from the day the then attorney general, Harlan Fiske Stone, offered him the job. He said he would accept only on these conditions:

He would run the agency. Politicians couldn't tell him what to do or whom to hire. Appointments would be by merit and so would advancement. He staffed the FBI with young lawyers and accountants as agents whose number has risen from 441 to 6,625.

Before they are accepted they must survive an investigation of their conduct, common sense and loyalty. They have to go through a 14-week training course.

The year after he took the job Hoover laid down a rule which still is in effect: an agent must by his conduct eliminate criticism. Even in their clothing the agents are inconspicuous.

Hoover put the FBI ahead of most of the nation's police departments — probably all of them — in 1926 when he warned his agents never to use threats or inducements to get confessions. You never hear of FBI agents using third-degree.

It has been a rather stylish tradition among some liberals to criticize Hoover as a dictator. There is no doubt he runs the FBI with an iron hand. But anyone who objects to that can try to answer this question:

If you were running an agency like the FBI, and didn't invoke rigid discipline, how would you keep the politicians' paws off it and keep your agents free of outside discipline and inside corruption?

What has been overlooked or forgotten is that Hoover has never sought to extend his power but, on the other hand, opposed its extension.

He opposed President Franklin D. Roosevelt's idea that the FBI should take over all federal investigations.

In the 1930s, when the country was shaken by spreading gangsterism and killings and demands were being made to federalize the nation's police, he opposed that, too.

He has insisted from the beginning that local problems of law and order are the jurisdiction of the local authorities, not the FBI.

In Roosevelt's day there were reports that liberals in his administration were turning sour on Hoover, fearing he had too much authority. At the same time Ku Klux Klan leaders were trying to get him out.

He was criticized for the way he made it. This has been an endless story. It just takes new variations from time to time.

He has even been criticized for almost never holding a news conference, and being very hard for newsmen to see individually, although he is not required to hold such conferences and whether he does or not is strictly his privilege.

Hoover summed up his bureau's problems in 1956 when he said of civil rights cases: the FBI is unpopular if it obtains facts which result in prosecutions and it is unpopular if it doesn't.

He told his agents: "Our sole purpose is to do our job objectively." It is hard to think of anything more impressive in government service than the FBI record, ranging from its success with gangsters and Nazi saboteurs to cutting the American Communist party to pieces by infiltrating it.

Memorial Trophy

A beautiful silver punch bowl trophy with grape design edging the top and the base, will be presented Thursday night of the Missouri State Fair by the C. W. Flower Co., in memory of the late Mrs. Virginia Flower.

The challenge trophy must be won three times before it becomes a permanent possession. It will be presented first at the five-gated Amateur State Class the evening of August 24.

Mrs. Flower always loved horses and riding ponies as a small girl, and later riding horses. Although she never participated herself in the shows her horses were often shown at the Missouri State Fair.

Officers of the company felt the silver trophy would be appropriate to pay tribute to her.

Education Fares Well In 74th Legislature

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Mark Twain once noted, "In Boston they ask how much does he know; in New York, how much is he worth; and in Philadelphia, who are his parents."

In 1967 the old river pilot would have to modify his observation, for everywhere people ask: "How much education does he have?" Schooling has become a prerequisite for success in America.

Yet Missouri, by almost every measure, compares poorly with other states in its aid to education. As Sen. Basy Vanlandingham, chairman of the Senate Education committee points out, any comment on the quality of the education is a matter of opinion. It is a matter of statistical record, however, that Missouri does far less than it can, indeed less than most states, to support its schools.

One measure of effort to support education is the per cent of income spent on current educational expenses for public elementary and secondary schools. Missouri ranks 47th. Missouri's current expense per pupil in average daily attendance in these schools is 496 compared with the national average of 564. Here the state ranks 32nd. Yet her financial ability, based on per capita income, places her 23rd. And her income per pupil, a measure of her relative ability to provide education for her children, is shown by a rank of 14th (again, for pupils in elementary and secondary schools.)

Everett Keith, executive secretary of the Missouri Teachers Assn., sums it up: "Missouri has been basically a conservative state, down through the years. The state tax load has been extremely low. Thus many functions of government have been undernourished, financially speaking."

In education, this has meant a teacher pay scale which is not competitive with most of the states, a scale more than $700 below the national average of $7,119. As a result, Keith says, this has aggravated the effects in Missouri of a nationwide teacher shortage. "The state now has the most severe teacher shortage since World War II."

The 74th General Assembly did much to improve the educational picture. It did so much, that Keith calls it "most significant for education." Vanlandingham says the Assembly did "an excellent job" and justifies his praise: "We provided a number of new services that hadn't been provided

Machines Closer To Home

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Staying within reach of their firearms, three women who resisted highway construction across their land watched neighboring fields today as giant earth-moving machines roved closer.

"I'm tired of being a loser," Mrs. Guy R. Metz says. "They'll have to carry me off to jail before I let them on my land."

Mrs. Metz fired warning shots Tuesday when bulldozers threatened to uproot trees in her backyard on the southwest edge of Huntington.

"I fired three times in the air to let them know I mean business," she said. The workers, building an access road to Interstate 64, stopped short of the property line.

When construction foreman returned later that day to talk to Mrs. Metz, the woman said her daughter, Ellen, 24, an English teacher from Seattle, Wash., greeted them with a pistol and forbade them to talk to her mother. The foreman backed off.

Both mother and daughter have armed themselves with .22-caliber revolvers, Mrs. Metz said.

Mrs. L.D. Smith, a neighbor, said she talked with foremen Tuesday afternoon after running off workers earlier with an unloaded shotgun and rifle. She said the foremen said they would skirt her property for a few days to permit talks between her attorney and the State Road Commission.

Mrs. Smith said plans call for highway construction to block the driveway to her home. It would force her husband to walk up a steep hill or steps, she said, adding that because of a recent heart attack physicians have forbidden him to exert himself.

Mrs. Metz said her backyard would be eliminated by construction and replaced with a 60-foot earthen barrier. She said the State Road Commission paid $1,350 for most of the land behind her home.

Pravda Says America Is Doomed

MOSCOW (AP)—Under the headlines "Tanks and Machine Guns against Negroes" and "Detroit in Flames," Pravda devoted more than half a page today to reports on U.S. racial troubles.

"America is living through alarming days," wrote the New York correspondent of the Soviet Communist party newspaper, Boris Strelnikov.

"America is paying for the torment, tears and blood of its dark-skinned citizens," Strelnikov said. "But it pays by their own tears and by their own blood, dooming them to still greater suffering."

Death Appears Dying

By LARRY KNUTSON

CHICAGO (AP)—Death appears to be dying as the supreme penalty of American justice, even though most states cling to capital punishment statutes.

A survey by The Associated Press showed that 13 states have abolished the death penalty or so severely restricted its use as to make it almost nonexistent. Some states have not executed a criminal in decades.

Most death penalties are imposed for murder. But some states can execute for rape, kidnapping, armed robbery, treason against the state. In Oklahoma, the death penalty legally can be imposed for peddling narcotics to minors.

But death at the hands of the state is becoming a rarity and the voice of the abolitionists is louder and more frequent.

Legal executions have been abolished in Alaska, Hawaii, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Oregon, West Virginia and Wisconsin. It has been abolished with qualifications in New York and Vermont and has been on the books in Rhode Island since 1864—but never used.

The death penalty was abolished by the New York Legislature in 1965. An exclusion involves persons who kill police officers or kill while escaping from prison.

The Vermont Legislature repealed capital punishment laws in 1965 except in cases where a second murder is committed or a police officer is killed in the line of duty.

The Rhode Island law applies only to persons who are sentenced to life imprisonment for first-degree murder, and who later are convicted of another first-degree murder.

That specific situation has never arisen in the state.

Maryland, New Mexico and North Carolina currently are prime targets of abolitionists activity. Bills to eliminate the death penalty were defeated by narrow margins in recent legislative sessions. In California a major court test is being sought in the wake of legislative action.

Recurrent bills to eliminate the death penalty have been introduced in many states, but either were defeated or died in committee.

Other abolitionist attempts have been made without success in recent years in Montana, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, South Carolina, Texas, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Nevada, Arkansas, Tennessee, Utah, Idaho, Virginia, Washington, Mississippi, Nebraska, Missouri, Connecticut, New Jersey and Louisiana.

In the November 1966 election, Colorado voters defeated an abolition measure by a 2-1 margin.

Several abolition bills in Massachusetts were killed shortly after the escape from a mental institution of Albert DeSalvo, the man who calls himself the Boston strangler. Legislators cited the escape and a recent flurry of gangland killings in the Boston area.

But opponents of capital punishment continue to fight.

The abolitionists contend that the deterrent factor, the traditional argument for retaining capital punishment, is a myth.

Efforts to abolish the death penalty have quickened over the last decade. There is an active corps of abolitionists in nearly every state. Among the leaders are the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Helicopters To Support Riot Troops

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP)—An Army helicopter company from Ft. Riley has been ordered to the riot-stricken Detroit area.

A spokesman said the 17th Aviation Company (Air Mobile), equipped with 25 UH1 helicopters, was to go to Selfridge Air Force base near Detroit to act in support of ground troops in the Detroit area.

The ground support for the helicopters and other personnel were to be flown from the Manhattan, Kan., airport by Air Force transport planes. There are about 200 men in the company.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said the helicopters were requested by Lt. Gen. John L. Throckmorton, commander of the 4,700 federal troops sent to Detroit by the 82nd Airborne Division and the 101st Airborne Division.

Recovers Teeth From Reservoir

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A Boise man and his false teeth are reunited thanks to a sharp-eyed diver from the county sheriff's office. The sheriff's office sent the diver to look for the teeth after the man, whose name was not disclosed, lost them in a reservoir. The diver found them in 30 feet of water, the office said.

Guerrilla War By Negroes

HAVANA (AP)—Stokely Carmichael says Negroes in American cities are going to wage a guerrilla "fight to the death," the Cuban news agency reported Tuesday as the U.S. Black Power leader arrived in Havana for a revolutionary conference.

The Prensa Latina agency quoted the fiery 26-year-old Negro as saying: "In Newark we applied war tactics of the guerrillas. We are preparing groups of urban guerrillas for our defense in the cities. The price of these rebellions is a high price that one must pay. This fight is not going to be a simple street meeting. It is going to be a fight to the death."

The Black Power leader came to Havana for the meeting of the Latin-American Organization of Solidarity opening July 31. U.S. racial problems are on the meeting's agenda.

Carmichael flew from London to Prague Monday and then to Havana. Non-Communist newsmen were not allowed to approach him at the Havana airport.

In the Prensa Latina interview, which the agency said Carmichael gave in London, he said he decided to come to Cuba because of an April message attributed to the vanished Cuban guerrilla leader Ernesto Guevara. The message urged Latin-American revolutionaries to stir up more Vietnam-like situations.

Carmichael said Guevara inspired American Negroes and that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's visit to Harlem in 1960 was momentous "in the history of the fight of North American Negroes."

In the United States, the Alabama state Senate in a resolution asked that Carmichael be denied re-entry to the United States and called him "a blasphemous and profane Communist revolutionary."

'66 Defending Champs Win Tourney Contest

Anderson Also Wins First Round Game

By D. Kelly Scruton
Sports Editor

The 1967 Missouri Non-Pro Baseball Tournament, sanctioned by the National Baseball Congress, got underway Tuesday night with two excellent games. The Anderson Merchants from the deep southwest Missouri territory won over the Columbia Staggs 6-3 while the defending Champions, Mexico Sportsmen took their game with Lowry City 6-1.

Mexico and Lowry City opened the tournament with a nip-and-tuck contest to the sixth inning when the Champs broke the 1-1 tie in the bottom of the sixth scoring three runs. Mexico added two more in the seventh inning for "insurance."

In the Anderson-Columbia game the Anderson aggregation tallied a run in the first, another in the third and a third run in the fourth, only to bow to a tie in the sixth on a three run rally by the Staggs. Anderson picked up two in the seventh and one in the top of the ninth to gain a three run lead which was threatened twice but failed to turn in to any kind of a rally for Columbia.

Both the winning teams will play Saturday night in the winners bracket and the two losers will meet in the losers bracket, the same night.

First Game

The Lowry City Independents took the lead in the top of the third inning after Dean Dull singled to center field. When Flint Nickel attempted to bunt he forced Dull at second. Nickel stole second who scored when Gary Nickel singled to left field. Arduer grounded to third. One run, two hits, no errors.

In the bottom of the fourth inning the Sportsmen tied the game up as Barry Lubeck popped to short; Ray Uriarte walked. Ken Minert flied to centerfield. Uriarte to second on a wild pitch then stole second. Bob Price singled through the pitchers box. Uriarte scored. Price on a first baseman error, circled to third. Bill Krawczyk struckout. One run one hit and one error.

The lead was taken over in the bottom of the sixth by the Sportsmen when Uriarte walked. Minert safe on a fielder's choice and Uriarte out third to second. Price safe on a shortstop error and Minert to second. Krawczyk singled and Minert scored. Cummins singled down the third base line and Price and Krawczyk scored. McDannald was thrown out by the short stop. Three runs three hits and one error.

Two more runs were picked up by the Sportsmen in the bottom of the seventh inning. Rudy Stroupe hit a long drive to left field and the ball struck an electric wire and dropped to the ground. It was ruled a triple. Lubeck lined to third. Minert walked. Price safe on a third baseman error and Stroup Lubeck scored. Joe Haptnan forced Minert third to second. Whitaker out shortstop to second.

Two runs one hit and one error.

Second Game

The Anderson Merchants not only had the power but the pitching to handle the Columbia Staggs. It was an interesting game to watch and the players provided some big time baseball for the fans.

Opening the first inning Anderson scored their first tally when Mike Russell dropped a single behind the pitchers box. Jack Shaver grounded out to first, and on an error by Jim Cooksey, Columbia first baseman who threw wide to the third base. Russell circled around second, third and scored. Bud Powell struckout and Laverne Tuggle was out. Dick Bolli to Cooksey. One run, one hit and one error.

The Merchants scored their second run in the third inning, when pitcher struckout, and followed by Russell who singled through second, Shaver was safe on a pitcher's error, Russell to second. Bud Powell singled to left field and Russell who made the keystone turn without touching the third base bag was called out, Shaver stopping at second. Tuggle safe on a fielder's choice. Shaver scored on a wild pitch and Gary Crawford grounded out third to first. One run, two hits one error.

A run was scored in the fourth for the Anderson team when Garland Crowder was hit by a pitched ball. Jim Wvatt.

sacrificed third to first. Crowder holding up at second. Duck Hames, singled to left and Crowder stopped at third. Jim Hames was at the plate and a wild pitch to him gave Crowder his chance to score. Hames struckout. Russell struckout ending the inning. One run one hit no errors.

The bottom of the sixth inning saw the Staggs come to life. With two out, both Dick Bolli, the pitcher and Bill Dey, were out on plays short stop to first. Don Chandler walked. Vince Tobin got an infield hit. Cooksey hit a long drive to the right centerfield fence, 350 feet, scoring both Chandler and Tobin. Kim Lavender doubled down the right field foul line scoring Cooksey. Steve Nikes struckout. Three runs, three hits and no errors.

The top of the seventh inning Duck Hames was safe on a third baseman error. John Hames struckout. Russell struckout. Shaver doubled to the centerfield fence scoring D. Hames. Bud Powell hit by a pitched ball. Laverne Tuggle singled to right field scoring Shaver. Crawford was out short to first. Two runs, two hits one error.

Scoring ended for the Merchants in the top of the ninth when Powell doubled on a long hard drive to centerfield; Tuggle was out first base to Bolli who covered the bag. Powell to third on the play. Crawford doubled to right center scoring Powell. Crowder struckout. Wyatt walked, Duck Hames flied out to right field.

John Hames practically had the Staggs handcuffed at the proper time holding the opponents to five scattered hits.

During Crisis

Cards Remain Calm In Game

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals, once again perched atop the National League, are also bidding fair to lead the league in nonchalance.

The Cards opened a critical three-game series with the remarkable Chicago Cubs Tuesday night with both teams tied for the league lead. A brilliant relay play from center field to the plate transformed Ted Savage from the potential Chicago tying run to the final out in a 4-3 St. Louis victory.

And how did the Cardinals react? Calmly, to say the least. "Maxie (shortstop Dai Maxvill) told me to throw so I threw," said Julian Javier, who relayed the ball in from second, with an authentic shrug. "I wasn't surprised."

"I didn't think it was such a great play," yawned catcher Tim McCarver, who made the tag at the plate after Ernie Banks had already scored on the play. "I mean the ball was right there so what's the big deal?"

In other less nerve-wracking National League action Tuesday night, Philadelphia pounded Houston 12-7, San Francisco edged New York 5-4, Atlanta nudged Cincinnati 1-0 and Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 3-1.

In the American League, Kansas City won a doubleheader from Washington 5-1 and 6-5, California beat Boston 6-4, Minnesota and New York played to a 1-1 tie before the game was washed out after nine innings, Chicago took two from Cleveland 3-1 and 6-5 in 16 innings and Detroit at Baltimore was rained out.

The Cubs, though understandably depressed at blowing a chance to savor first place without any company, maintained they made the right play.

"We got a few this year in the same situation," third base coach Pete Reiser insisted. "We've been during the infielders and the outfielders all year. We just didn't make it this time."

Banks had singled in the inning and Savage was hit by a pitch before Card reliever Ron Willis went to 3-2 on Spangler. The runners were off with the pitch and Banks made it home easily before Javier nailed Savage.

Rich Allen carried Philadelphia's big stick, pounding out four hits—including his 13th homer—driving in four runs, scoring three and stealing two bases. Jim Bunning got his 10th victory.

Jesus Alou's bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth won the game for San Francisco after the Mets had tied the game in the top of the inning on John Sullivan's two-run single and Larry Stahl's bounce to the mound, which scored a run.

Pat Jarvis hurled a two-hitter, leading Atlanta past Cincinnati into third place. The Braves scored in the fifth when Denis Menke tripled and came on on Woody Woodward's single.

Bob Bailey drove in a pair of runs with a single and a sacrifice fly and Bill Singer allowed Pittsburgh seven hits in the Dodgers' triumph.

Chiefs Paid For Victory Over Denver

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs' 21-14 football victory Monday night over the Denver Broncos wasn't without physical cost.

Coach Hank Stram said Tuesday that four players were sidelined. They are Hatch Rosdahl, guard; Roy Davis, linebacker; Sandy Stephens, quarterback; and Kit Colvin, defensive end.

Stram said Rosdahl will be laid up several weeks with a strained right knee, but the others are expected back in a few days.

The Chiefs also announced the switch of Charlie Noggle, rookie quarterback from North Carolina State, to running back. Noggle played both positions in college.

"Noggle has the size and speed to warrant strong consideration for the running back position," Stram said.

Waivers have been asked for five players, Stram said, reducing the roster to 61. All are rookies. They are John Amos, fullback from Colorado State College; Bill Dodd, fullback, Omaha University; Mike Payte, defensive halfback, Houston; Dick Kolowski, tackle, Lake Forest, and Mike Sipotz, center, Washburn.

McClure and his companions claimed a distance record but said nothing about elapsed time: eight hours and 38 minutes.

Sedalia Team Sees Victory

The Sedalia American Little League tournament team came through, Tuesday night, in a delayed game to win over Lacombe 10-1, while the Tri-County Little Leaguers defeated the Clinton tournament team 8-2 in the second game of the evening. The games are being played in District No. 1 Tournament.

The Sedalia-Lacombe game was played to the third inning, Monday night, and was postponed to Tuesday because of rain, Sedalia leading at the time 6-0.

It was noted the two winning teams were errorless in their game, and both losing pitchers of the two games got home runs for their teams.

Tonight's schedule calls for the Sedalia Nationals to meet Columbia in the 6:30 game and Carroll County vs Harrison County in the 7:30 game.

NCAA Squads May Start Early

KANSAS CITY (AP) — More than half of the 435 schools in the National Collegiate Athletic Association are expected to start football practice earlier than usual this season.

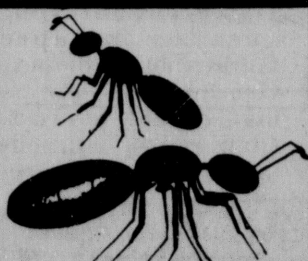

This can be done, said Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, by application of bylaws applying to colleges and universities which open their schedules on Sept. 16. These schools, numbering about 275, may start practice on Aug. 31. Others with opening games slated for Sept. 15 may start drills Aug. 30.

The NCAA bylaws state that practice shall not begin before Sept. 1, or prior to two weeks before the first day of classes or 16 days before the first scheduled intercollegiate game, whichever is earliest.

Nearly 40 schools have scheduled opening games for Sept. 9, and these schools will be permitted to start practice Aug. 24, Byers said.

Polishes Apple

Berry's Homer Saves Ballgame

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ken Berry took the apple twice. The third time he polished it — real good.

"I took the apple the other two times," said Berry in explaining his failure to deliver in two game-winning situations in the second game of the Chicago White Sox' doubleheader with Cleveland Tuesday night.

"So I had to do something about it," Berry continued. He did — smashing a two-run homer in the bottom of the 16th inning to give the White Sox a 6-5 victory. A two-run homer — this time by J.C. Martin in the ninth inning — gave the Sox a 3-1 victory in the opener.

The twin victories moved the American League-leading Sox two full games ahead of runner-up Boston, which lost 6-4 to third-place California.

In other AL action, Kansas City swept Washington 5-1 and 6-5 and the Baltimore-New York game was rained out after nine innings with the score tied 1-1. The Detroit-Baltimore game was washed out.

Atlanta edged Cincinnati 1-0, San Francisco shaded New York 5-4, St. Louis outlasted Chicago 4-3, Philadelphia outslugged Houston 12-7 and Los Angeles topped Pittsburgh 3-1.

Martin, pressed into action in the eighth inning of the first game when catcher Gerry McNertney injured a finger, also hit a two-run homer in the nightcap as did pinch hitter Smokey Burgess. The blast by Burgess in the eighth inning tied it at 4-4.

Cleveland had taken a 5-4 lead in the top of the 16th on doubles by Vern Fuller and pinch hitter Duke Sims.

Ken Boyer, recently acquired from the New York Mets, opened the bottom of the 16th with a single. Then, with one out, Berry, who had forced a runner at the plate with the bases loaded in the 11th and grounded into another forceout with two on in the 13th, made apple sauce of a Steve Bailey pitch.

Martin's game-winning homer came off Sam McDowell, who had held the White Sox to three hits and had a 1-0 lead going into the eighth.

Chicago tied it when Don Buford walked, Walt Williams beat out a bunt and, with two out, Pete Ward singled.

California struck for three runs with two out in the first inning. Don Mincher doubled home Jerry Adair and scored on Jimmie Hall's double. Hall came home on Bob Rodgers' single.

The Angels clinched it with a pair in the third. Mincher singled and Hall doubled, and they scored on Rick Reichardt's single. Hall also singled home a run in the fourth.

Boston scored single runs in four different innings, but the Angel defense came up with several sparkling plays to keep the Red Sox from having a big inning.

Mike Hershberger's three-run inside-the-park homer in the first inning sparked Kansas City to its first-game victory.

In the nightcap, Ken Harrelson, who homered in the first game, gave the Athletics a 5-2 lead with a two-run single in the fifth, and Joe Nossok drove in what proved to be the winning run with a single in the sixth.

Frank Howard drove in a pair of runs for Washington in the second game with his 25th homer.

Harmon Killebrew hit his 29th homer in the Minnesota first inning and Jim Kaat made the run stand up until Mickey Mantle homered with two out in the ninth.

After Kaat retired Bill Robinson to end the inning, the rain started and about a half hour later the game was called. It will be replayed as part of a two-night doubleheader Aug. 18. Individual statistics will go into the record book.

January Heads Pro Golf Tour

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — National PGA champ Don January will head a host of pro golfers taking part in today's pro-amateur prelude to Thursday's tee-off for the $100,000 Minnesota Golf Classic at Hazletine golf course.

Other big name pros after the $20,000 first-place money include last year's winner Bobby Nichols, Don Cherry, Gene Littler, Julius Boros, Doug Sanders, Ken Venturi and Don Massengale.

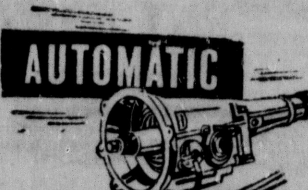

January edged Massengale 69 to 71 in winning the PGA crown Monday at Denver's 7,436-yard Columbine course.

No Soap in Washer? Then Dishes Are Clean

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—It used to be that no one at our house ever seemed to know whether the dishes in the dishwasher were clean or dirty. Finally I hit on the idea of putting the soap in the soap retainer inside the dishwasher when I started to fill it with dirty dishes. Now when no soap is there everyone knows the dishes are clean and ready to be put away.—MRS. E. M. T.

When choosing paint from a color card I have found it is best to always cut out the square being considered and place it on the area to be painted. The white that was around it on the card always seems to make the color look deeper.

If the children have a seesaw in the yard, save wear and tear on both the grass and the children by burying two parts of an old tire, in an upright position, with just a little showing in the ground at either end of the seesaw. When the seesaw comes down it hits the tire and not the ground.—MRS. J. C.

DEAR POLLY—When writing to my son who is in the service I usually stick in a couple of self-addressed postal cards. If he is too busy to write a letter, he will always write a few lines on a card, and this means a lot to us.—DELLA

THE MATURE PARENT

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

During a period of psychoanalytic treatment a young man became aware that his casual affairs with women represented a deep fear of commitment to love and marriage.

One day, in a state of intense anxiety, he brought his doctor a dream. As he recounted it, it blasted free a memory, a remembrance of himself at six years of age, the night his father left home. Awaking him from sleep, his mother, lost in misery, her face swollen with tears had seized him in her arms and sobbed:

"Daddy has left us. Oh Peter, he doesn't love us any more. Now we are all alone. Now this poor mother bird is all alone in the nest to look after her baby birds by herself. Oh Peter, how can I go on living?"

Recovering this memory, the young man whispered: "I felt sick with pity for her. I was so sorry for her that I wanted to run away. She frightened me. How could I make her want to go on living? I was 6 years old. How could I take the responsibility for her happiness?"

Breaking off in the sudden flash of connection that is the reward of psychoanalysis, he cried out: "Oh God, has this been my fear of marriage? Have I been afraid of failing another woman as I knew I was failing my mother that night?"

Sometime later, as marriage had ceased to represent commitment to impossible responsibility, he was able to become a husband.

Maybe his experience will be helpful to a reader who writes, "After 12 years of marriage my husband has asked me for a divorce. I have not yet told the children. But I think that my 8-year-old boy suspects it. He is always coming up to me and asking me if I feel all right."

Perhaps you could say, "No, I'm not very happy. Daddy and I are not getting along together any more. So my unhappiness has nothing to do with you. It's mine, dear—and I can take care of it myself."

This is a brave answer, taking as it does the responsibility for our hurt and for our recovery from it.

Sometimes parents in your position aren't up to it. Like the patient's mother of this column, they ask their little boys and girls to assuage the pain for which the children are not responsible. In their loneliness they forget that the children possess neither the wisdom nor strength to give them the comfort they need. Blinded by that need, they are also blinded to the possibility that their appeals for help are arousing such a passion of helpless pity in their children that the sense of helplessness may remain with them forever, a continuing, unsuspected and destructive despair of their ability to ever deliver sufficient and satisfying love to another person.

To ask parents for love when they have just been deprived of love themselves always seem cruel to me.

Yet not to ask it of you may be still more cruel. You have years yet to live as a mother if not as a wife. You don't want that boy of yours to grow up believing that his love for woman is deficient.

Heavies Fighting for 'Imitation' Crown Still Regard Clay as Their Champion

By ROGER DOUGHTY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—While boxing commissions and politicians argue about the best way to determine who the next heavyweight champion will be, there's general agreement among the fighters who desire that title that Cassius (Muhammad) Ali still deserves the right to call himself "the greatest."

Everybody who can make the weight has eyes for the title, including Canadian champion George Chuvalo, who went the distance with Clay last year, and former Olympic champ Joe Frazier, who has yet to lose as a pro, but whose victims include a bunch of guys named Charley Polite, Abe Davis and Al Jones.

Chuvalo and Frazier are booked for a 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden July 19 in a fight that's carefully being billed as having nothing to do with the championship, while eight guys, including former champ Floyd Patterson, are supposed to take part in a tournament sanctioned by the World Boxing Association that is supposed to produce the next heavyweight king.

Patterson, confident of regaining the title he lost to Sonny Liston and failed to wrest from Clay, says he will "never be satisfied until I prove I can beat Clay. I have to find a way to fight him again, even if it's in an alley."

All of which is Floyd's way of saying what Frazier breaks down to four words:

"Clay is still champ."

"Nobody," continues Joe, "ever beat him in the ring."

Chuvalo agrees. "I still regard him as champion," says George, "and so does California and several other states. But with Clay out of the picture, it's every man for himself."

Buster Mathis, the 240-pound free thinker who is pursuing a course of independent action that he hopes will lead to the championship, goes along with the assessment as does virtually everybody connected with the business.

"They say those things," says Angelo Dundee, "because they're professionals and they admire and respect professionalism in boxing."

Dundee, who did so much to develop Clay, is grooming Jimmy Ellis for the top spot in the heavyweight division now and he owns unique qualifications to judge the current scramble for the crown.

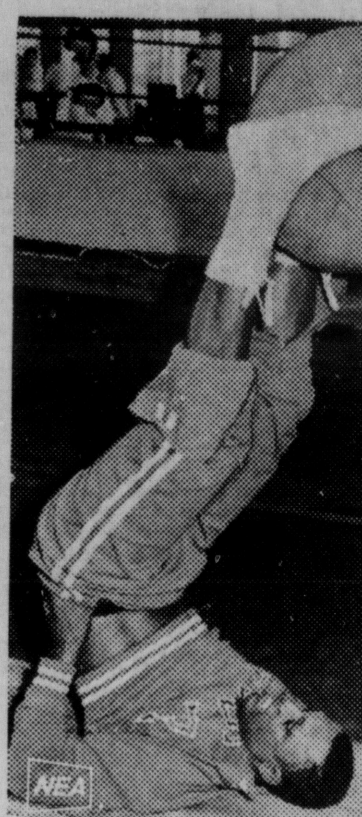

"Any fighter you talk to," says Angelo, "is going to tell you that the champ is the best. He beat everybody that they threw at him and that's the way you judge a champion."

While Dundee rates Clay as something special, he has high praise for the tournament in the works where, as he says, "The best of the rest will fight it out and the top man will emerge. The tournament will create a lot of activity and that will create a lot of interest and both are good for boxing. It's wonderful to be able to give the people what they want, which is plenty of action."

"Sure, the man who wins the tournament won't be as good as the champ," concedes Dundee, "but he'll be the best available, even if it's only on an interim basis."

So, months from now, when somebody's hand is finally raised in victory and the ring announcer says, "The winner and new heavyweight champion," the boxing commissions and politicians will finally be satisfied.

As for the fighters, they'll know better.

GOOD MEDICINE for Joe Frazier is a tough training routine. Joe, using the medicine ball to strengthen his legs, meets George Chuvalo in a heavyweight bout on July 19 in Madison Square Garden.

Wants To Win Gold Medal

WINNIPEG (AP) — Second Lieutenant Micki King of the U.S. Air Force will be 23 today and she'd like to celebrate her birthday by winning the three-meter springboard gold medal of the Pan-American Games.

Her? Air Force lieutenant? Yep, and there's no mistake about it. Micki is a vivacious, blue-eyed blonde, who does justice to a bathing suit. She is 5-foot-7 and weighs 130 pounds.

"I'd like to win the gold medal to justify the program which permits me to do a job and to continue to compete in diving," said Micki Tuesday night.

The University of Michigan graduate had just finished her seventh dive to wind up in close pursuit of teammate Sue Gossick, another shapely, 19-year-old blonde from Tarzana, Calif.

Sue had 497.80 points for her seven dives with the final three to be contested at 3 p.m., EDT, in the huge indoor Pan American pool. Micki had 488.50 with Kathy McDonald, 19-year-old Canadian third in the seven-girl field with 464.40.

Micki said that everyone seems to think—before they meet her, that is—that she's a man and then they wonder how she became an Air Force officer.

"It's a relatively new program for women—and it's great," said Micki. "I wouldn't be happy as a schoolteacher or a secretary."

"I went into officers' training after I graduated from Michigan in 1966. Now I'm doing administrative work with the ROTC detachment at Michigan. I'm on active duty and I'll be in for four years."

Newman Provides A Tonic

BOSTON (AP) — Fred Newman's spectacular pitching comeback provided a big tonic to the pennant hopes of the California Angels today — and Manager Bill Rigney thought it might even serve as a hair tonic, too.

"It would make the manager's hair turn brown again," the white-haired Rigney quipped when asked what a return to Newman's old form would mean to his club's flag chances.

The big right-hander, who was ineffective all last season and underwent major surgery on his shoulder in October, made his first American League appearance of 1967 Tuesday night. He held the Boston Red Sox scoreless for the last four innings gain credit for a 6-4 California victory.

It was the seventh in a row for the streaking Angels, boosting them to within a half-game of the second-place Red Sox, who had a 10-game winning streak shattered by the loss.

Newman, who won a total of 27 games for weak-hitting Angel teams in 1964 and 1965, suffered an injury to his pitching shoulder in spring training a year ago.

More US Medals Foreseen

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — The tempo picks up in the fifth Pan-American Games Wednesday with a strong Stars and Stripes beat.

A bag of six more gold medals for the United States looms in the first session of swimming finals as the third day of overall Pan-Am action brings yachting and fencing into the sprawling hemispheric athletic show.

With 16 sports now under way, only boxing, rowing, judo and the real big tent event—track and field—remain in the wings.

The track competition, which like swimming has the U.S. squad stamped an overwhelming favorite, starts Saturday and runs through the following Saturday.

Uncle Sam's youthful and powerful swimming array was primed for a likely record-smashing surge towards one-two sweeps in four races and the women's three-meter diving.

The United States had Pan-Am record-breaking qualifiers Tuesday for tonight's 100-meter men's free style in Zach Zorn, Buena Park, Calif., and the 200-meter women's free style in 16-year-old Pam Kruse, Pompano Beach, Fla.

Olympian Sue Gossick, 19, Tarzana, Calif., and Micki King, Ann Arbor, Mich., moved into the women's three-meter diving finals as one-two leaders after Tuesday's preliminaries.

Cinches to dominate this afternoon's trials for evening finals were NCAA and AAU champ Ken Mertens, Southern Methodist grad, in the men's 200-meter breaststroke; 15-year-old Katie Ball, Jacksonville, Fla., in the women's 200 breaststroke, and Cathy Ferguson, 18, Burbank, Calif., in the women's 200 backstroke.

The U.S. basketball team was hoisted by a pair of talented collegians, Jo Jo White of Kansas and Westley Unseld of Louisville, to a 131-43 crushing of feeble Colombia.

The United States also had soft touches Tuesday in women's gymnastics, sweeping the first six individual spots in compulsory exercises, and in water polo with a 14-0 swamping of Colombia.

In other team sports, the U.S. women's basketball team barely hung on for a 48-45 shading of Mexico, while the U.S. equestrian team settled for the second-place silver medal behind gold-medal winning Chile in dressage.

It was somewhere between the two deadlines that Hitchcock gave him the book, he said.

ANOTHER HURDLE is cleared by Ron Whitney, the AAU champion at 400 meters. Ron will represent the United States in the Pan American games.

Book May Be Reason For Work

ATLANTA (AP) — Earlier this year a fan sent Atlanta Braves' Manager Billy Hitchcock a copy of a book by Maxwell Maltz called "Psychotherapy," which Hitchcock passed on to Pat Jarvis after underlining a few passages.

Since then Jarvis, who has quietly become the top pitcher on the Braves' staff, has won seven of eight games, improving his record to 11-3.

His latest was a two-hit, 1-0 shutout of the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night, boosting the Braves over the Reds into third place.

Hitchcock said he didn't know if the book had helped Jarvis. "I just know he's won seven out of eight since he got it. And tonight he pitched his best game of the year."

Of the book Jarvis said, "I read some of the chapters in it, especially what he had underlined. It's a book on yourself. It's supposed to make you believe in yourself."

He said the book urges a person to brush aside discouragement and build self-confidence and to think of the future instead of the past.

Jarvis was hesitant to give the book credit for his showing this season, his sophomore year in the majors. "But I can't knock it," he said. "I've gotten to where I can challenge the batter better."

Although he has won consistently all season, Jarvis struggled in early games and was saved by relief work. His earned run average was high in the early season.

He said one reason for his early struggles was that he was worried about reaching the cut-down date and then worried about getting past the trade deadline.

It was somewhere between the two deadlines that Hitchcock gave him the book, he said.

Underoos Wins

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Hal Underoos of the University of Houston defeated Larry Hinson, Florida State champion 3 and 2 Sunday and won the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

VERSATILE CLAUDIA KOLB, 17, will be one of the United States chief hopes in the Pan-American Games. Called the best "all-around female swimmer" in the country and one of the world's best, Claudia also will be an Olympic favorite next year. She recently broke her own record in the 200-meter medley with a 2:27.5.

Reiser Made Good Decision

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Everybody said third base coach Pete Reiser made the right call when he sent Ted Savage home in the ninth inning.

"I think they'd do the same thing over again," said Bobby Tolan, whose throw from the outfield to relay man Julian Javier helped nail Savage at the plate and preserved the Cardinals' 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday night.

"It looks bad now but it was a good play," Tolan said.

The Cubs went into the ninth on the short end of a 4-2 score. Ernie Banks singled to lead off the inning and Savage, pinch-hitting for Clarence Jones, was hit by a pitch. Ron Willis came in and got the first two outs.

Then Al Spangler came up with the count at 3-and-2 and lined a solid single to center. Banks scored from second and Savage steamed homeward.

Tolan fired to Javier and the second basemen turned and threw to Tim McCarver at the plate.

"Maxie told me to throw home, so I threw," Javier shrugged, as if the game hadn't meant sole possession of first place to the Cardinals. "When I turned I saw Savage turning third, so I knew I had a lot of time. I wasn't surprised when he tried to go home."

Neither was McCarver, who couldn't understand what all the fuss was about. "I didn't think it was such a great play. I mean the ball was right there so what's the big deal?"

And Pete Reiser wasn't about to have second thoughts on the call.

"We've gotten a few this year in the same situation when the throw has gotten away," Pete said. "We've been during the infielders and the outfielders all year. We just didn't make it this time."

Manager Leo Durocher of the Cubs agreed. "I would have done the same thing Reiser did. The throw didn't have to be there. It could have been bad."

Race Winner

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP)—Billy Schumacher overtook Chrysler Crow in the third lap of the final heat Sunday and piloted Miss Barcal to victory in the Atomic Cup race for unlimited hydroplanes.

Centuries-Old Jelly Still Ideal for Skin

AN IDEAL LUBRICANT and make-up base that has been in use since Biblical times, is the gel found in the leaves of the aloe plant. This natural moisturizer helps restore the natural balance of the skin, normally upset by sun, wind, cold, steam heat and soap and water. In summer, applied to the face and body, it helps bring a golden, lasting suntan and protects the skin from peeling and becoming dry.

Colonel Is Willing: Task Is Formidable

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Britain today is like an old colonel back from east of Suez who had it very nice for many years but who now finds he must knuckle down to work, no matter how dreadful the task nor how old the body.

The colonel is willing, but the task is formidable; the British economy must be rebuilt through hard work in order to be competitive in world markets. The weapons are spirit, pride, austerity and willingness to work.

But progress is slow, and several body blows have been delivered in recent weeks; things have been going wrong at the very time the nation had a right to expect some good news.

Unemployment in July rose to the highest in 27 years, a total of 496,000 jobless. Industrial production declined in May. And the trade gap, which all the austerity and work is meant to close, widened instead.

A 21-nation study, by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, came up with the finding that Britain still had years more of hard work before real results would show.

These were not the only blows. Earlier, as the world knows, Britain was denied entrance to a democratic trade alliance called the Common Market. And then the Suez Canal was closed, and Britain was denied needed oil supplies via that trade route.

Most of this bad news came in a tumble just as some British were beginning to relax a bit. After nearly three years of belt-tightening, some results were beginning to show. For the first time since the 1940s exports were exceeding imports. But it didn't last.

Under Prime Minister Harold Wilson the battle is not likely to be given up. Instead, austerity is likely to continue as the remedy. It means fixed wages, hard work, some joblessness, even poor housing. Broadly, it means more production but less consumption.

How can austerity be the solution? How can a lid on the economy — on wages, prices and dividends, for instance — be the solution? How can a planned recession bring about a stronger economy? Isn't this contradictory behavior?

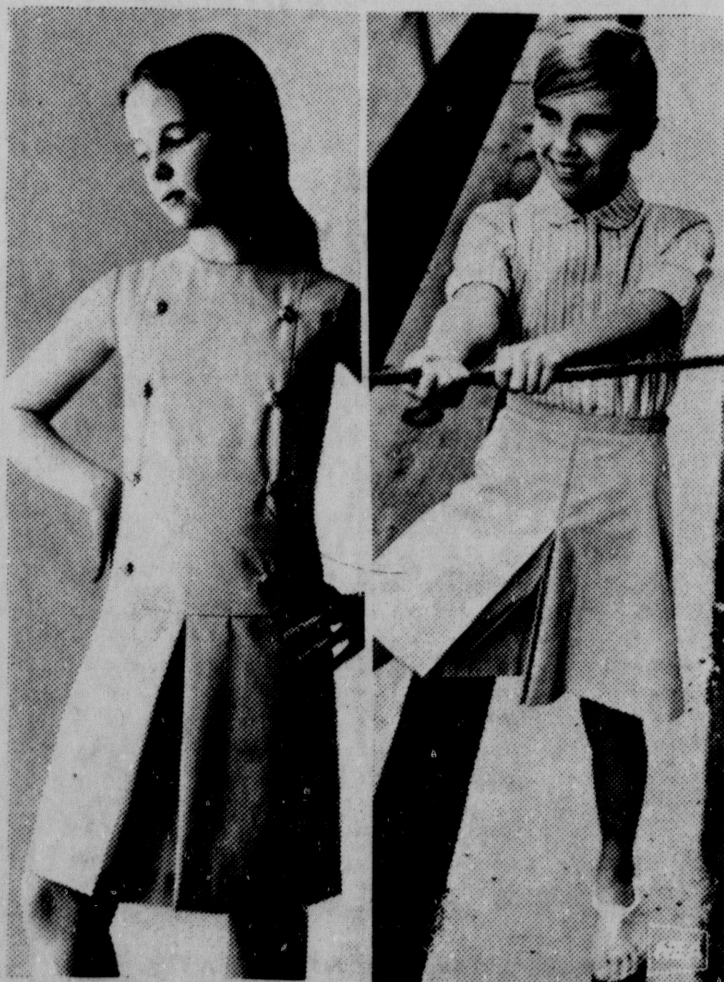

In theory, no. Austerity means that Britain must work harder to produce more to sell more abroad. At the same time, it means that she must spend less on herself and deny herself the luxuries of imported goods. She must make do.

Such a policy if maintained long enough will mean that not only will Britain make more goods, but she will use less. The surplus of her economy then can be sold abroad to earn money with which to pay her debts.

If Britain continues to pay off her debts—and they are enormous—then the rest of the world will have faith that the pound sterling is actually worth the $2.80 at which it is officially valued.

If her economy fails to produce enough to pay the bills, then the world will assume that the pound is not worth $2.80. The nation then could be forced to acknowledge this by devaluation, an admission of failure.

Clothes for Active Life Should Be 'Easy Care'

JUMPER-SHIRT in beige Dacron and cotton permanent press adds fashion dimension to a young lady's active life (left). A double row of buttons trims the bodice and skirt. Not pants, not a skirt, but a culotte of Dacron and cotton gabardine (right) is worn with a striped blouse of matching fabric.

Pals: Omar Sharif And King Hussein

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) FOOTLOOSE AND FANCY FREEWAY—

There are those, supposedly in the know, who insist that Barbra Streisand has had a slight nose redecorating job done before she faces the close-up camera for "Funny Girl." "Valley of the Dolls" may have some problems getting a code seal because of some language used . . . Omar Sharif went to school with Jordan's King Hussein, and the king still calls the actor "Captain," his school title . . . During the off-season, Peter Breck made his night club bow and was a hit, so an episode of The Big Valley will be written for him, giving him a chance to sing . . . Frank Sinatra is planning a sequel to "Tony Rome," again using Miami Beach as the location—giving Frank a chance to double into one of Miami Beach's big hotels.

Telly Savalas, now shooting "Mackenna's Gold," turned down a big offer because the part required him to have a healthy head of hair. And Telly says he'll never again appear without his baldness.

"For a guy who used to think $200 was a lot of money," Telly says, "it was a big thrill to turn down that offer."

The history of Telly's hairless top is interesting. He had hair like everyone else when George Stevens approached him to play Pontius Pilate in "The Greatest Story Ever Told." Stevens suggested he shave his head.

"I was afraid what my kids might think," Telly says. "So Stevens said, 'Let them watch it being shaved off, then it won't be so traumatic.' To do that meant halting production for a day—costing maybe $50,000. But we did it, and my kids came in and watched. They didn't say a word."

Informing, Mexican Style, Is a Dopey Affair

WHEN IT'S ROUND-UP TIME in Texas, it's usually the border guards who do the rounding up. This law enforcement officer on the Texas side of the Rio Grande is checking a marijuana smuggling suspect after receiving a tip-off from a Mexican.

By BILL STARR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex.—(NEA)—If you have a little imagination, there is a way to get rich along the Texas-Mexican border off the marijuana traffic—but not by smuggling it across. That is one of the least likely ways of making money. The guys who squal to the U.S. Customs officials are the ones who come out ahead financially.

Informing is big business along the border. Last year six tons of marijuana were seized by customs agents when it crossed the border. They didn't have to go looking for it, either. They were sitting there waiting for it when it came across, much to the surprise of the poor fellows who hoped to get rich off one trip to the Mexican dope fields and back.

There is an agreement between customs agents and Mexican informers that when the informer tips them off on a hot one, he, the informer, is entitled to 15 per cent of the value of the smuggled matter. This includes the value of the car in which the dope is riding, also. At the least, the informer's take is $100 to $150 each time he squeals.

So, the very guy who sells you the stuff in Mexico, usually pockets his cash, picks up the telephone and tips the customs boys off to the make, color and license number of your car and gets additional gains from his 15 per cent as a legitimate informer.

The border Mexicans, for the most part, always enterprising, always tricky and always on the edge of starvation, had to devise a new means of injecting some life into a situation which was rapidly becoming staid.

Raising the hood of some tourist's automobile outside a Mexican night club, the Mexican would plant a small cache of marijuana, wait until the tourist started back towards the bridge, call the customs officials, and collect his $150.

The unsuspecting tourist always wound up in the Texas state penitentiary at Huntsville, wondering what hit him. Nobody would believe he was innocent.

It took the judges on the American side several years to figure that one out and put a stop to it.

Latest promotional twist to the trade of the informer was discovered last year in Brownsville at the southernmost tip of the state, just across the Rio Grande from Matamoros.

It seems a Mexican cab driver would approach tourists in Matamoros and offer to bring marijuana over to the U.S. side and deliver it to them for a price.

At one time 13 defendants were in the Brownsville jail because the same cab driver had offered his services in such a manner and had been taken up on it.

"This same cabbie came to me five times trying to get me to buy," one of the men in the jail said. "He offered to bring the stuff across the river and deliver it to me on this side. Finally, it looked so easy, I took him up on it. Ten minutes after he delivered it to me, the U.S. Customs men had a hammerlock on me."

Last August, Federal Judge Reynaldo G. Garza began to look into the possibility of customs enforcement agents using the Mexican cabbie to set up a trap for marijuana offenders.

Garza took the U.S. customs officials to task. "I don't care if the cabbie is a government employee or not. It's still entrapment. And if he's not working for the government, it's a violation of law. And the next time it happens, I'll have an investigation of my own."

Assistant Commissioner of Customs Lawrence Fleichman in Washington, said the bureau had "no policy allowing informers to work for it."

"It is not the policy of our department to allow methods which are illegal or of a questionable nature," he said. "We do not make cases which even remotely smell of entrapment."

Frantic attempts to hush the incident on the U.S. side were common. Assistant U.S. attorney Homer M. Lopez said: "Defendants in court will often try to throw the blame off onto someone who is not around." he said. "They know good and well it's illegal to be in possession of marijuana. A man's mind is not completely clean when he goes to a place where marijuana is known to be available," he said.

But the publicity has apparently worked. Practically nobody on the U.S. side of the river complains of entrapment now when they are picked up by the customs boys for having marijuana in their possession.

Old-timers along the Texas-Mexican border wait patiently to see what ingenious scheme the Mexican informers will come up with next.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT

Section Two Sedalia, Mo. Wed., July 26, 1967

"AN UNLICENSED BAKERY" is what the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture called the kitchen stove of Mrs. William Hershberger, 26, wife of an Amish farmer at New Glarus, Wis. But she kept right on baking for sale to hundreds of tourists who want a close look at these "plain folk" in their southern Wisconsin settlement. "If I believed it were a sin I would quit," she said.

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN, such as these men, who were called out to help put down rioting in Newark, don't have the experience to handle such tasks. They do their best, but it often isn't good enough.

One Lesson of Newark

Riots Rate Better Control

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEWARK, N.J.—(NEA)—At the peak of the race rioting a young National Guardsman made a revealing confession as he slumped behind a fire hydrant and prepared to go into action against apartment house snipers.

"Rats," he said, "I forget how to load my rifle."

He was not alone. Without detracting from either the courage or enthusiasm of the 3,000 Guard personnel who helped defend this city, it is fair to say that many of them were not only unfamiliar with their rifles but their assignment in general.

As a result, they provided needed muscle but little else.

Naturally jittery, the soldiers often added to the problem rather than the solution. Negro moderates and the state police bemoaned their lack of finesse. They sometimes opened fire on each other.

No official complaint has been made against the troops, except by Negroes. But candid guardsmen themselves observe no diplomatic restraint in their self-criticism.

Said one sergeant: "We're not worth a good damn in a riot."

This same opinion has been reached in other states where the Guard has been plucked from civilian society, given questionable weapons and hastily prepared orders and rushed pell-mell into hotspots.

Observers agree that individual effort is seldom at fault, neither is the willingness of the National Guard to respond. But experience is sadly lacking.

"Riot control is delicate," says a N.J. Guard commander. "It takes qualified men to do it well . . . and, unfortunately, there aren't many qualified men in my outfit."

Nor are there many qualified men in any Guard outfit anywhere. Though riot control is part of the over-all National Guard curriculum, it is generally thought of as an infrequent mission not worth active preparation.

Most units require a few hours of riot control instruction every year. But this instruction is little more than amateurish training films and drowsy lecturing.

Even much of this classroom work is outdated. One popular film on the subject was put together in the 1940s and suggests soldiers stop disorders by marching in human waves (like British Revolutionary troops) through affected streets.

Had such been done in Newark, guardsmen would have dropped like dominoes.

There have been recent indications that such films may be ending their runs in at least some armories in the nation. Guard commanders in areas recently hit with disturbances are beginning to discuss fresh ideas on riot control.

One proposal of particular interest is that of "strike forces" in every state. These units would vary in size according to population needs, but all be thoroughly trained and especially equipped to handle modern-day civil strife.

"They would be Guard personnel in every way," explains one Guard officer. "Only, their weekly meeting would be dedicated in large part to riot control training."

"They would have to be volunteers, probably, since they would be expected to be on call at anytime. They would have to be responsible and physically fit. And they would have to be able to integrate themselves in any situation or community."

"The men would be trained in police actions, both peaceful and otherwise. They would be provided with all effective riot equipment and trained to use it. They would be proficient in everything from hand-to-hand combat to bomb disposal."

Appointed To Army Committee

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Col. Walter C. Wilson of Jefferson City, state air defense officer in the office of the adjutant general, was appointed today to the Army National Guard Technician Advisory Committee in Washington.

The announcement of his appointment was made by Maj. Gen. L. B. Adams Jr., Missouri adjutant general.

The advisory committee studies problems of employment of 40,000 full time technicians working for the Army National Guard.

Evangeline Class Meets

The Evangeline Bible Class of the United Church of Christ met at the church in California on July 21 with 14 members present.

Mrs. Robert Basinger led the devotional and Mrs. Clayton Basinger presented a program. Mrs. H. F. Dahler read a modern version of "The Lord's Prayer" and Mrs. Melvin George read a short story, "Judge Not."

To Jamboree

John Kay, son of Mrs. Edwina Kay, California, left July 20 to attend the 12th Boy Scout World Jamboree in Farragut State Park, Idaho.

In order to qualify, a Scout must be an Eagle Scout and have some knowledge of a foreign language. John will act as "cousin" to a group of Scouts from a Spanish-speaking country.

Philosophy Professor Dies At 73

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP) — The Rev. Malachy Sullivan, 73, professor emeritus of philosophy at St. Benedict's College, died Monday night in a hospital at Great Falls, Mont., where he had suffered a heart attack.

Following his custom of recent years, Father Sullivan had been serving as a vacation replacement for a pastor of a Great Falls church.

A member of the St. Benedict's staff 45 years, he served as the school's first coach of intercollegiate athletics 1919-22.

After his retirement, he made weekly trips to teach classes at Catholic student centers at the University of Kansas and the University of Missouri at Kansas City.

THE AGE OF SOPHISTICATED eavesdropping techniques has given birth to a new breed of electronic exterminators—the "bug" eliminators. Ben Jamil, president of Conteico Security Co., New York, is in the business of de-bugging. In an exhibition he showed to newsmen some cleverly hidden bugging devices which had been found by electronic detectors. Included in the "bugs" were: a book with a built-in voice activated tape recorder (left); a room transmitter built into a cigar (top right); and a room transmitter in a tape dispenser. (UPI)

First Degree Charge Is Filed

PIEDMONT, Mo. (AP) — A first degree murder charge was filed today against Donald C. Hollingsworth, 40, of Pine Lawn in the Sunday death of his wife:

Mrs. Hollingsworth, 43, was fatally wounded by a spear from a skindiver's underwater spear gun.

Hollingsworth said at an inquest Monday night his wife of three months fell against the spear gun as they were driving along a bumpy road near Patterson, Mo.

Mrs. Mamie Wright, the dead woman's sister, testified Hollingsworth had threatened his wife and she was afraid of him.

Hollingsworth told the coroner's jury he had been under the care of a psychiatrist in recent months and was subject to "blacking-out spells."

Wayne County prosecutor Ronald Little said Mrs. Hollingsworth was convicted earlier this year of passing counterfeit money in St. Louis and was sentenced to four concurrent three-year prison sentences. Little said the woman was free on appeal bond at the time of her death.

August Should Be Cool, Wet

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — It has been a comparatively cool and wet summer over much of the nation thus far, all because of those fickle jet streams, the weather experts say.

Despite some occasional hot and steamy days, more wet and relatively cool weather is anticipated at least through mid-August.

Why the jet streams act as they do is almost as much of a mystery to the Weather Bureau as it is to the man in the street buttoning up his raincoat against a late afternoon thunder shower.

"They're never normal," one official says in describing them as a major study area. "We don't know the full answers."

The experts now are working on the theory the jet streams—the upper air wind patterns above 10,000 feet—are affected in some way by ocean water temperatures as well as ground temperatures. In turn, it is believed, they have some effect on surface temperatures.

Weather researchers believe feedback is involved and note that if the jet streams make it rain, it is likely to keep raining. The Northeast drought is now a classic example. That lasted for five years but the Weather Bureau now is cautiously predicting an ample supply of water from Virginia to New England this year.

Basically, the country's weather now is affected by two jet streams.

One flows from Alaska and northwest Canada over the Great Lakes region and then toward the Northeast. Its lower limit is generally near the Chicago-northern Indiana area, more southerly than normal.

In the South another jet stream dances in from the Gulf of Mexico, and turns in through the Southwest and Texas before heading east from about Kansas.

In between, there is what the experts call a conference where storms are generated over a wide area.

New Teachers Hired By Knob Noster

Resignations have been submitted by several teachers at the Knob Noster School. They were: Miss Marilyn Vanderlinden, Junior High Counselor; Donald Meyer, Junior High physical education; Mrs. Lynne Ryan, Knob Noster grade 4; and Mrs. Shirley Cleveland, Whiteman grade 2.

New contracts have been offered to Mrs. Sarah Jane Byrd, Junior High Counselor; Jim Bruns, Junior High physical education; Mrs. Joyce Ann Sukut, Junior High home economics; Mrs. Leah Jane Brady, Junior High science; Patrick Garry, Senior High driver education and assistant basketball coach; Miss Diana Sepilian, Whiteman grade 2; and Mrs. Deanna Messerian, developmental reading.

All 1966-67 non-certificated personnel are returning except Mrs. Treva Smith, Junior High secretary; Mrs. Rosita Troutman, teacher aide; Mrs. Margaret Wray, nurse; Lawrence Berger and Frank Albertico, custodial work; Cully Scott and Edwin Davis, bus drivers; and Beverly Faulconer and Marge Nunn, lunchroom workers.

Mrs. Don Snyder has been offered the Junior High secretarial position; Mrs. Kathryn Rapley, school nurse; Larry Draper, driver of bus No. three; Freddie McKeahan, driver of bus No. nine; Mrs. Dorothy Boosinger, Whiteman lunchroom; and Mrs. Jean Everts, Knob Noster Elementary lunchroom.

Glenn Frisbee was re-elected secretary and Don Bollenbach was re-elected treasurer of the Board of Education.

Leaves For New Assignment

Father Vincent Youngkamp, son of Mrs. Margaret Youngkamp, 816½ South Massachusetts, left Sedalia last week to begin his new assignment as vocational director for the St. Columbian Missionary Society, St. Columbian, Neb.

In Sept., 1966, he returned to the states after having spent six years in Japan. While there he was assistant pastor of the Catholic Church, Kumamoto City, Japan, and an instructor at Marist High School there.

During the past 10 months, Father Youngkamp filled in as supply priest at Whiteman AFB, Clear Creek, Clifton City and Warrensburg and in Florida, New York and Kansas.

While in Sedalia he visited with his mother and brother, John Youngkamp. He is a native Sedalian.

Latest Fashion Must: Crocheted Dress

By JUDY LOVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

So you're hooked on the new young look of fashion? Then be glad you're a needleworker! The crocheted hook is your key to the "now" look of fashion. Use it to create the open, latticelike texture you'll see everywhere this season and next—on dresses, shells, coats, even stockings and gloves.

While the look of crocheted fashion is new, the tool itself dates back some four centuries. A fine hook resembling today's crocheted hook was used by lacemakers in the 16th century. Some historians say it probably was used first by nuns who were the important lace makers of that age.

Three hundred years later, crochet became a popular craft for both men and women. It was done mostly in homes and convents and became known as "nun's work" and "shepherd's knitting."

The Irish took up the handicraft out of economic necessity. During the potato famine in 1846, women learned to crochet to help with family income. Their fine skills helped turn the art of crochet into a now-famous Irish folk craft.

Irish crochet work found a ready market throughout Europe and in the New World, too. As a result, the craft became popular far beyond the convent and countryside and was taken up by gentlewomen everywhere.

Once crochet work was limited to doilies, tablecloths, bedspreads and other items for the home. Today, the age-old craft is a new fashion must. The lacelike dress I'm featuring today shows how party-perfect it can be. The dress has a lattice-patterned bodice which flows into an easy A-line shape beneath the classic empire waistline. The dress is flattering to anyone who's young at heart, no matter what her size.

You can crochet it from sizes 10 to 16 in Coats and Clark's "Red Heart" Super Fingering yarn. The yarn, by the way, is packaged in pull-out skeins, so you won't have to wind it.

For a copy of directions for crocheting the dress, send your name and address plus 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, c/o your local paper, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to ask for leaflet No. S121.

KNIT KNACKS

In crochet as well as knitting, gauge is all important. The right gauge will give you a well-fitting garment, so be sure you are crocheting to the gauge given in the directions you are following.

You test-gauge for crocheting just as you do for knitting. First, crochet a swatch to measure about four inches square. Smooth your sample and pin it to a flat surface. Then measure a one-inch square portion in the center of the swatch counting the number of stitches you have crocheted to the inch and the number of rows. If you have more stitches to the inch than the gauge given in the directions, try a crochet hook in a larger size and test a new swatch. If you have fewer stitches to the inch than given in the directions, use a smaller hook for your new swatch test.

Always test first—then whiz away with your needles!

A DRESS for all seasons is yours to crochet. The lacelike texture of this snow white dress is fashion right for late summer and straight through the winter months. Directions for crocheting the dress are available for sizes 10 to 16.

'Loser' Is Winner for the Girl From

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—A girl from Winner, S.D., may have a winner in a film called "Born Losers." She's Delores Taylor, a long-haired blonde who is one of Hollywood's few female producers.

"Born Losers" is the third movie she's made. Like the others, it was an independent production. Delores finds angels to back her, as though it were a Broadway play. It means working on a shoe-string, and she finds herself doing things—like making lunches for the cast and crew—which few other producers have to do.

But she likes working this way, because she says she has an autonomy she would not have otherwise. With her productions, what she says goes. There is no studio, no committee to ask approval of.

"Born Losers" was in the works two years. It is a motorcycle gang picture—but with a point to it," she says—and she got the Hell's Angels to co-operate on the filming. She had to get them out of jail from time to time, but she found them basically co-operative and helpful. One, Robert Tessier, the leader of the Los Angeles chapter of the Angels (Cueball in the film) has subsequently decided he wants to be an actor.

For Delores Taylor—she's married to Tom Laughlin, the star of the film, and they have two children—producing is the ultimate goal. She'd like to do bigger pictures, of course, but that's all. Maybe a picture where somebody else made lunch.

Marge Champion has just finished her annual acting job—or that's what it seems to be. The wife and former dancing partner of the noted director, Gower Champion, thinks of herself as a mother, primarily.

"But I like to act," she says. "So I try to find something about once a year."

Last summer, she had a part in Burt Lancaster's "The Swimmer." This year, she's one of the guests at Blake Edwards' "The Party," which stars Peter Sellers.

"I really feel I should be with my children now," she says. "They need me. I could do more acting, I suppose, but then when I come back home I'd either have to over-indulge them, to counteract my guilt feelings, or else have to be very strict if they had been terribly spoiled. Either way is wrong."

This way everybody's happy. Except those who wish they could see Marge dance again—"No more," she says.

As a dedicated Mission: Impossible fan, I look forward to the coming season with trepidation. To me, that well-made series was tied so strongly to the personality of Steven Hill that it is hard to conceive of it with Peter Graves in the key role.

Bruce Geller, who created Mission: Impossible and is its executive producer, believes that Graves will add some positive elements—"a little humor, warmth, stronger relationships with the others in the cast."

Geller would not explain the reason for the change. He said there was no point in going into that now. He says there have been other successful shows that changed stars—Wagon Train, Twelve O'Clock High—and "it seems to be a 50-50 proposition, so we decided to chance it."

This year, Geller will have another show—Mannix—on the air. Michael Connors is the star of that one.

As for television in general, Geller sees the coming emergence of a new kind of series—six or seven times a year, rather than the present style of 26.

"The audience," he says, "has been exposed to such entertainment that their threshold of boredom has decreased. They get bored quicker and a series on only six times a year would have a better chance."

President Wilson was the first U.S. president to visit Europe. He went there in December of 1918.

Historical Club Meets In Tipton

Sixty members of the Moniteau County Historical Society met July 17 at the grade school auditorium in Tipton. Visitors were met near the entrance of the auditorium by a group of Girl Scouts in Indian regalia.

The meeting was opened with a choir from the Prairie Grove Baptist Church singing musical numbers.

Committee chairmen gave reports on their work. Mrs. Karl Herfurth, vice-president, presented a panel discussion. Mr. and Mrs. Frances Ketterlin, Mrs. Billy Tom Lawson and Mrs. Preston Hutchison discussed how to do research to trace family connections and other ways of gathering information which might help in tracing family history.

Bill Wisdom gave a talk on points of historical interest in Moniteau County which should be preserved.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Club Notes

Mrs. Alpha Hutchison, California, was hostess on July 18 to nine members of the Sunshine Extension Club. Roll call was answered by "A Color I Like in My Home."

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Federal Nigerian troops were reported today to have reached Nkalagu in their advance on the rebel Biafran capital of Enugu, 23 miles away.

The capitulation earlier of Nsukka, on the border of the rebellious Eastern Region, was described by a Lagos Morning Post reporter as "gory."

"The inhabitants have all fled or been killed," he wrote. "Today bodies litter the main road in Nsukka."

Nsukka fell 10 days ago.

In Lagos, the Nigerian Trade Union Congress called on the federal government to nationalize all British and American oil companies. It will against the companies followed unconfirmed reports that the Shell-BP group had offered royalties to the Biafran regime of Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu.

The congress also adopted resolutions demanding that American and British intelligence activities in Nigeria be crushed and that the American Peace Corps leave the country.

BERLIN (AP) — Removal of visa requirements for East Europeans visiting West Berlin for 30 days or less is expected to increase the flow of East-bloc tourists. The visa elimination was announced jointly by British, French and American authorities Monday.

Communist governments look on West Berlin as a "special territory" and not part of West Germany. They therefore refused to let West German authorities stamp visas for West Berlin in their citizens' passports.

The new rules require East-erners only to register with the West Berlin police on their arrival.

TOKYO (AP) — A high-level Japanese Socialist party mission will leave for Hanoi Aug. 27, hoping to talk with President

Ho Chi Minh, and then will go to Washington Sept. 20.

A party spokesman said the mission wants to find out if the North Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong would take a unified stand toward any peace offensive.

The mission to Hanoi will be headed by party Chairman Kozo Sasaki and Shichiro Matsumoto, chairman of the party's Foreign Affairs Committee. Matsumoto will head the mission to Washington.

LONDON (AP) — A Conservative motion to censure Britain's Labor government for its economic policies was roundly defeated in the House of Commons Monday night 333-240. The government majority of 93 was just three votes short of its maximum voting margin.

Capital Notes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal panel says one way to clean up slums—which it calls a prime breeding ground for crime and racial violence—may be to give tenants more power.

The panel says laws on private property tend to favor landlords and block efforts at slum rehabilitation. Courts also tend to take the property owner's side, the panel concluded.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Frank Wozencraft headed the group that prepared a 40-page report, released Monday. It grew out of a conference last December sponsored by the Justice and Housing and Urban Development departments and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Among suggestions by the panel for giving tenants greater rights:

—Suspend tenants' obligations to pay rents if a landlord fails to meet his obligations over a prolonged period.

—Allow tenants to sue landlords and collect damages in cases of willful disregard of building maintenance.

—Grant tenants the right to make repairs and deduct the cost from their rent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're the proverbial average American, you had $31 more to spend during the second three months of this year than you did during the first three.

But that $31 bought only what $14 would have in 1958.

Inflation was responsible for the cut in buying power. And inflation continues to curb the U.S. economy, although the after-tax average income of every American man, woman and child climbed to $2,717 during the April-June period.

Burial services were scheduled for later today at Arlington National Cemetery near Washington for John T. McNaughton, secretary of the Navy-designate, his wife Sarah and their son Theodore II. They died last Wednesday in a North Carolina plane crash.

The Navy will name its second nuclear-powered attack aircraft carrier after the late Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who headed U.S. forces in the Pacific in World War II. Construction of the $427.5-million ship has not begun.

International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., have agreed to delay their planned $2.8-billion merger providing a government suit aimed at blocking the amalgamation is set for court hearing by the week of Oct. 16.

See Violent Summer With No End In Sight

NEW YORK (AP) — With no end in sight to the nation's summer of racial violence, weary victims of rioting in cities across the country are adding up their economic losses and planning for the future.

With preliminary damage estimates in Detroit already over $150 million, official estimates of monetary losses around the nation totaled over $169,853,000 in an Associated Press survey.

Some victims, in despair, plan to get out of trouble spots as soon as possible; others are starting work on new plans to minimize the chance of future outbreaks; still others, stunned, just don't know what to do.

Tampa, Fla., merchants joined a biracial commission in a training program to open employment to Negroes as a peace move.

A Buffalo, N.Y., banker summed up: "Many of the merchants would love to leave the area, but they have no place to go."

Of the $169 million, $15 million was in Newark, N.J., $3 million in Cincinnati, Ohio, $1 million in Tampa, Fla., $350,000 in Dayton, Ohio, $250,000 in Buffalo, N.Y., $150,000 in Erie, Pa., and $100,000 in Cairo, Ill. The Department of Housing and Urban Development said in Washington that no federal funds are available to help repair or rebuild.

But no monetary value could be placed on the human tragedies, the loss of the family home, the work of a lifetime, perhaps, lost in one riotous night.

"We have been getting telephone calls, some of them from small homeowners actually crying on the phone," said Morris Spielberg, an organizer of the Newark Businessmen's Emergency Committee. "What will we do? Where will we get the money to start again?" they ask.

He said many of the businesses hit were family concerns, some of which had no insurance or were dropped by insurance companies in recent years.

"We put a $15 million insured damage estimate on the Newark rioting last Friday (July 21)," said a spokesman for the Insurance Information Institute in New York. "Whatever is insured will be paid."

He said most of the claims will come under a homeowner's policy or fire and extended coverage policies that include such risks as riots, explosions, fires and civil commotions.

The spokesman said it would take years to determine whether the riots would lead to an increase in insurance rates.

The General Adjustment Bureau, a national organization that sends adjusters into disaster areas, set up a 15-man temporary office in East Orange, N.J. to help in settling Newark claims.

Cemetery Board Helm To Walch

Harry Walch was elected president of the Crown Hill Cemetery Board at its regular meeting at the Farm and Home building July 21.

New board members named were Mrs. Charles Van Dyne and Arthur Morgan. Other officers elected were Francis Rudd, vice-president; Mrs. Clyde Waters, secretary and Floyd McFarland, sexton.

Among other business, the board discussed plans for construction of a utility shed for maintenance and other items. In a report to the board, members learned another mile of paved roadway will be added in a joint effort by the city of Sedalia, the Pettis County Court and the Twelve-Mile Special Road District.

The board was also told that 59 dead elm trees still need to be removed.

Attending the meeting were Jack Bloess, Mrs. Van Dyne, Morgan, Rudd, Walch, Mrs. Waters and McFarland.

LONDON (AP) — A Laborite member of Parliament, Christopher Mayhew, said today he had a "psychedelic experience" when he took an LSD-type drug.

He wrote in a letter to the Times that he had taken the hallucinatory drug 12 years ago as an experiment to test a theory in his book "Men Seeking God."

"I experienced the beatific vision, eternal life, heaven," he said.

"It was all there as the saints had described it—ecstasy, timelessness, illumination and unity, or, if you prefer it, depersonalization, time disturbances, light hallucinations and disintegration of the ego."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Richard M. Nixon has continued his California stay by visiting his ailing mother, Hannah Nixon, 82, in nearby Whittier.

The former vice president had talks with Gov. Ronald Reagan last weekend in Bohemian Garden north of San Francisco.

Nixon declared Monday that he had decided not to fight Gov. Reagan for California political support.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell now plans a news conference Wednesday at his Bimini Island retreat in the Bahamas. This time, an aide says, the conference will come off.

There were reports last Friday that Powell would talk to newsmen on Bimini, but the meeting never materialized, and the congressman said he never had any intention of holding a press conference.

Powell, excluded from the House of Representatives last March, subsequently was re-elected to represent his Harlem constituency. He is awaiting a court verdict on a suit to force Congress to reinstate him.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz helped rescue a young girl by leaping into the Cacapon River in West Virginia and keeping her afloat.

The incident Sunday involved Debbie Dolan, 12, of Winchester Va., who was swimming in the stream with two older sisters.

Wirtz stripped to his shorts when he saw the girl having trouble and helped Debbie stay afloat in deep water while her sisters fetched a float.

WEYBRIDGE, England (AP) — Beatle John Lennon's $9,800 birthday present for his 4-year-old son has landed him in neighbor trouble.

The gift, a 19th-century gypsy trailer painted bright yellow with rainbow-hued flowers, arrived at Lennon's rambling country home here, complete with two dashing white horses.

"It's hideous—take it away," shrieked a neighbor, Kathleen Bolton, as eight feet of Lennon's garden fence was ripped down to deliver the present.

"It's an absolute hideosity. It's vulgar. I'm going to report this to the Residents' Association," she declared.

Bishop Reunion Held In Sedalia

The annual reunion of the John and Betty Bishop family was held at Liberty Park in Sedalia on July 16.

Those present were: Mrs. Lora Arnold, Mrs. Albert Arnold, Mrs. Alberta Miller and sons, Misses Kathryn and Sharon Arnold, Sedalia; Mrs. Hubert Burford and daughter, St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bishop, Smithton; Mrs. Bertha Glenn, Mrs. Mildred Rounton, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Glenn and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Burford Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Bishop, Mrs. Nancy Meyer and children, Mr. and Mrs. William Oswald and family, all of Ottumville.

Tractor Kills 3-Year-Old Boy

RICHMOND, Mo. (AP)—A 3-year-old boy was killed Monday in a tractor accident on a farm northeast of Richmond.

He was William Harry Peters Jr., son of Mrs. Loretta Faye Peters of Seattle.

The boy was riding with his great-uncle, Lee Cox, on the tractor which was pulling a hay baler. The baler jammed. Cox told officers he took the tractor out of gear and stepped down to clear the baler. He said the boy apparently got the tractor into gear and it lurched forward, throwing the youngster under the wheel.

Surrenders To Sheriff On Monday

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — Claude Delbert Conover, 22, was to be arraigned today on a charge of first degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Sandra Kay Hammer.

Conover, accompanied by a lawyer, walked into the sheriff's office in Leavenworth and surrendered Monday.

Mrs. Hammer, 20, who lived in the Kansas City suburb of Riverside, Mo., was last seen alive the night of June 25. Her bloodstained car was found the next morning beside the Missouri River near Wolcott, Kan. Her body, a bullet hole in the head, was found in the river June 29.

A warrant naming Conover was issued Friday.

Conover, who said he lived in Wyandotte County, Kan., said little while being booked into the jail.

His attorney, Robert W. Feiring of Kansas City, Kan., said there had been no time for consultation with his client.

Police said Conover has been absent without leave from the Army since March 3.

Cronkite Sinks Very Slowly

By JOAN CROSBY
West Coast Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CANDLEWOOD LAKE, Conn.—(NEA)—Two valuable pieces of CBS property were about to sink in Connecticut's large and scenic Candlewood Lake—a camera and Walter Cronkite.

The more important of the two (and the one able to swim) was worried about the less important. "Get the camera out," Cronkite called.

He and a cameraman were in a two-man hydrofoil pleasure craft, a "Water Spyder," filming a segment for the second season of CBS-TV's The 21st Century. Only a couple of hours earlier, Cronkite was given a very short course on how to sail the craft, which rises out of the water on its foils and skims over the surface for a fast and smooth sail. He took the foil out for a long sail, followed by a camera crew on a raft-like float, who filmed his skill with the foil.

Now he and a cameraman and a lot of equipment were in the hydrofoil, getting close-ups of Cronkite. And the weight of the equipment was just too much for the small boat. "Hey, fellows, we're shipping water pretty fast," Walter said to the crew on the raft. No one paid any attention. "Hey, fellows, we're sinking. Fellows, fellows, I think you'd better get the camera out."

Eventually someone realized that a good segment was about to be ruined, and the camera equipment was unloaded. Walter sailed the craft back to the dock where the water was pumped out, a second cameraman, lighter in weight, jumped in and Walter set sail for a retake.

Later the popular CBS newsmen smiled and said, "I couldn't seem to get anyone to care very much that we were sinking, could I?"

During the decade that Cronkite has been on The 20th Century and The 21st Century he has done everything from live in a city built under the ice to being lowered from a helicopter to the deck of a ship. He has never refused to do anything.

"I can't imagine anything I'm not foolish enough to do—once," he says. "I make a distinction between the bravery of someone who does something dangerous over and over and that one someone doing something for the first time. The first time you do something you don't know exactly what you will face. When you know, and do it again, then that's bravery."

Only twice, Cronkite adds, did he have a claustrophobic feeling. Once when he was in Greenland's city under the ice, and a second time when he was in Deep Diver. "The cabin is pressurized with air. There's a point, which lasts about 30 seconds, when the pressure begins to drop before it builds up again. Psychologically, it's a point where you get claustrophobia. I felt that I wanted to claw the wall and get out.

Question Brings Inventory

By DOUG MCCLURE
For Cynthia Lowry

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A couple of questions caused me to stop and take inventory. While I'm not jumping with joy over what I have noted, the record does indicate progress to me.

If I say I'm not content, it indicates to a degree that I don't think much of my present role of Trampas in "The Virginian." This could not be farther from the truth since I am very happy in the role and feel that I have an opportunity to continue to improve as an actor.

And, of course, if I say that I am content to go along the route I'm on, one might set the impression that I lack ambition. This also is untrue.

It seems to me that I am growing as an actor and that I am consistently going upward and I don't see the top of the ladder anywhere in sight right now.

Admitted that much of his business is a matter of images, it also has dignity, honor and integrity. And it requires years of hard work.

I note that my career route has been from commercials to guest-star or guest roles, to television series star billings. In addition, I have moved into motion pictures.

First I was the easy-going all-American type. Then I became the young sophisticated type in "Checkmate." Then the rugged cowboy type. Now I think I have achieved another level, Doug McClure, the actor type.

I always wanted to keep working, and that certainly has been the case. I wanted to go from television to motion pictures, and that has happened. I wanted to go into motion pictures so I could expand my acting and do a variety of roles. This also is happening.

In one with James Stewart I played a young Civil War soldier. In another I was the hero's young brother who got killed. In another I was a World War II GI who escaped from the Japanese. I've done comedy in two films that will be released this year.

I keep looking for mature roles, and I am sure they will come along. As you mature as an actor, I think you also mature as a human being. Things that seemed important 10 years ago to my career certainly don't take on the same perspective today, like Hollywood functions, premieres, parties and such.

Challenges Magazine Over Drugs

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A statement by Look magazine about use of marijuana and LSD by students in Columbia has been challenged by Frank Conley, Boone County prosecutor.

The magazine, on sale today, says 25 per cent of the 21,000 students at the University of Missouri, Stephens College and Christian College have smoked marijuana. It says 200 to 400 use LSD.

The marijuana and LSD are brought to Columbia from Kansas City by a supplier every two weeks, the magazine said. Conley asserted Monday that a recent grand jury and federal agents have covered all the points mentioned in the article, and have found no widespread we care

we never "run out" on a sale!

We never advertise a special sale item unless we have an ample supply. Once in a great while, the special is more popular than we imagined. So occasionally, we do run out of the item.

But we never "run out" on a sale.

If the item is sold out, just ask the manager for a "RAIN CHECK."

An A&P Rain Check is a certificate that entitles you to buy the item at the same special price, the following week.

We think that's the fair thing to do. We think that shows "WE CARE".

Not every store can care that much. A&P can... and does.

Shouldn't A&P be your store?

Church Women Hear Report

The Women's Association of the Broadway Presbyterian Church met recently to hear a report on the national meeting of United Presbyterian Women held July 1 at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. Mrs. Richard Parkhurst was the delegate from Sedalia and gave a resume of speeches made at the meeting, attended by 5,000 women.

The Jean Miller Circle was hostess to a contributed luncheon served at noon.

Better Homemaking

Bad Lighting Detracts From Room

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Before and after pictures of a lighted room might help cast a revealing light on a major home decorating problem. It is the dismal lack of proper lighting.

Although many homes have their quota of fixtures and lamps the tell-tale photograph would point up their almost candlelight existence. It is strange, too, since the lighting industry itself woke up about a decade ago. The result is better design in fixtures and bulbs for quality home lighting. There is a rub. Many manufacturers still run a wire in a container and stick a shade or globe on and insist such a unit is utilitarian and decorative.

Why the current concern for better lighting in a home? Because poor or inadequate lighting takes a psychological toll of those who must live with it daily. Inadequate lighting causes dull shadows, it casts a gloom on handsome furniture, fabrics and the family. Too much contrast between light and dark areas in a room can cause eye fatigue.

Lighting expert David Weisberg of Progress Lighting shows his understanding of women when he admits, "It is difficult to cast a critical eye on your favorite things. In this case a chandelier, wall sconce or table lamp.

"A homemaker, though, puts her own personality into an interior. This individuality often is lost with dull, shadowy lighting."

There is a swing to replacing fixtures in existing homes and upon request getting the lighting needed in a new home.

When selecting new lighting, Weisberg ticks off points to consider. Uppermost is what the light will be needed for—reading, sewing, painting, dining. Light shaded so it does not shine directly into the eyes is important. He also says that general over-all lighting is necessary to avoid sharp contrast between the light and dark areas of a room. Most do not use a combo of lamps and general lighting at all or at least not effectively, he feels.

If the color scheme in a room is dark, you will need more wattage because dark colors tend to absorb light. And while you are at it, investigate special lighting to accent a pattern, change the mood of a room, focus attention on a floral arrangement. For help turn to the local utility company. Often it has a lighting expert on the staff or there is one on call in your region who will give advice on lighting problems.

OLD WORLD is wrapped up in a roomsetting with an outdoor garden look. Done by interior designer Rebecca Petrik for Progress Lighting, it shows a bell-shaped chandelier in wrought iron. Wall sconce adapted from Spanish wall torch has cracked glass cylinder. All key the terra cotta flooring and earth-tone color ties in with the rough plaster walls. Woven wicker settee and chair, plus pillows in hot reds and yellow, complete the setting.

Headgear for the Summer

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Summer is the time to let fringe benefits go to your head.

Pompons, tassels, cords and braids, borrowed from their usual uses in home decorating now are making delightful additions to summer hats and hairdos.

Spice up an old beach hat or custom-design a new one with a brimful of Pom-Decor, bright cotton pompons strung together on a glass fiber core. Add to the fun by cutting a small slit in the hat brim, bringing the trim through the slit and making a braid with two lengths of white cotton cord.

Other trims make great disguises for fresh-from-the-pool hairdos. Twine a length of cotton cord in with your own damp locks, add a tassel or two and your coiffure is charming.

For sheer glamor on a summer night, hairstylist, Monsieur Roland of the Enrico Caruso Salon in New York braided a length of black pompons into white boucle fringe. A piece of fine wire threaded invisibly through the braid added enough backbone to keep it prettily curled at the end.

Another glamorous treatment by the hairstylist begins with a braid made from white cotton cord and glittering gold rope and ends with two pairs of gold chair tassels. Little velvet bows were attached here and there.

Such pretty hairpieces attach easily by looping over your own pony tail or catching into a small comb.

BRIMMING OVER with appeal, floppy felt hat (at top) is ringed with Pom-Decor, fluffy cotton pompons all strung together. The trim runs through a slit in the brim and is braided into white cotton cord for a single pigtail. Gold tassels add glitter to "hairpiece" braid (at bottom) made of white cotton cord and gold cord worn around model's own hair. Braid is sprinkled with little velvet bows.

Clothes And Job Are Big Nuisances

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Finding clothes and a job are the major nuisances, said 4-foot-7, Lee Kitchens, president of the Little People of America, Inc., holding its annual convention here.

Kitchens, from Richardson, Tex., said Monday, "The trouble is too many little people aren't qualified for the work they want to do. This gives them an added handicap on top of their size."

But Kitchens has overcome any handicap, rising to manager of an engineering branch of Texas Instruments, Inc.

4-H Achievement Day Is Planned

The annual 4-H Achievement Day will be held July 29 in the high school building in California. Grooming contests will be held for all 4-H members who have had grooming as a phase in 4-H Club work.

Demonstrations in all projects will be given that day. These will be held within several rooms. Clothing, home management and food will be judged. The winner of these contests will represent Montevideo County in the 4-H District Achievement Day, Aug. 3.

The Way to Beauty

One in Three Women Do It

By PATRICIA KING
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — To become a blonde in 1925, you started in the kitchen. The tinting brew contained saffron, lily roots, yellow techas, St. John's wort and a variety of other interesting ingredients, if you could find all of them.

Boiling took hours and rinsing the hair was a daily necessity. In spite of the lengthy process, many women lightened their hair. Today it is estimated that one woman in three uses some form of hair coloring.

"Hair color must complement your facial shape. The color actually contours your face," said Rose Reti, whose Rue de la Paix Beauty Salon in New York City does a brisk business in hair coloring.

Miss Reti, a native of Hungary, had a salon in the Wigs help a great deal in choosing a flattering color. The customer can try on the hair color before she makes the big decision. However, "experience has taught me that if an idea is too firmly fixed in a woman's mind she won't accept any color but the one she wants," Miss Reti said, and more often than not it's not the most flattering.

Highlights and streaking, she feels, is a natural effect and the bleached head's best friend is the short hairstyle. This style prevents damaged hair from overbleaching.

"A good colorist never makes hair color even. There should be a variation of at least three to four shades to achieve the most natural look," Miss Reti explained.

Women abuse their hair in many ways but most especially with hair spray, which has a drying effect on dyed hair. Teasing is equally hard on colored hair and lack of time for proper care is another fault.

Keep 'Em on Top
If you heat fruits and nuts in the oven before you add them to the batter of a cake, they will not sink to the bottom. This is true of puddings, too, to which nuts or raisins are added.

Peelings Clean Flues
Here's a good tip for the home that boasts a fireplace. Burn dried potato peelings and they will help keep the flue and chimney clean.

Put Zip in Zippers
If your slip covers come back from the cleaners or laundry with slow-moving zippers, rub the zippers with soap and work them back and forth a couple of times. They will work smoothly.

Safeguard Toys
Is your infant in the "taste everything" stage? It might be wise to spray shellac on all wood, metal and painted toys. The dried shellac is safe and helps prevent wood from splintering.

Soda Cleans Marble
To clean marble or plaster ornaments, use enough baking soda to make a paste. Apply with a cloth or paint brush, rinse and then dry.

Economical Silver Polish
Did you know that sour milk is an excellent silver polish? Soak your silverware in the milk, then wash it in warm soapy water. It will gleam brightly.

HOMEMAKERS

ROSE RETI, famed New York hair colorist, generally tries to discourage the very young from changing their hair color. She also spends a good deal of time convincing older women it's unwise to re-create at 50 years of age the color that was so devastating at 20. Her feeling is that hair color must become gentler as one grows older.

Loses Suit For Muslim Meeting

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—An inmate of the Kansas Penitentiary has lost his federal district court suit to compel penitentiary officials to allow organized meetings of Black Muslims with in the institution at Lansing.

Atty. Gen. Robert Londerholm's office said it had been notified by U. S. District Judge Wesley Brown of the decision in a case filed by Vincent Lee under the federal civil rights act.

Lee, who claims the name of Vincent 2X, is serving a 10-21 year sentence for armed robbery in Wyandotte County.

Lee asked the court to enjoin the warden of the penitentiary from prohibiting organized meetings presided over by members of the Black Muslim sect.

He also alleged he had been a victim of disciplinary measures because of his beliefs.

Judge Brown ruled the allegations concerning disciplinary measures imposed because of Lee's beliefs was not substantiated by the evidence.

The judge held the warden was within his authority to restrict meetings within the penitentiary for reasons of internal security and discipline.

There is no weight limit for the heavyweight class of boxers.

artist's colony of Szolnok before she came to this country in 1939.

"Everyone in Hungary is a kitchen cosmetologist and I specialized in hair coloring," she explained. A little bit of this, a little bit of that, add something else, is the way Miss Reti explains the many enchanting shades she creates.

She feels the most important concept in hair color is that nature should be improved upon but not drastically changed. Unfortunately, most women see themselves as something other than what they are. In their mind's eye the picture is completely different than the reflection in the mirror.

Baptist Women Hold Dinner

Twenty-four members of the two circles of the California Baptist Church met on July 17 at the church honoring Mrs. Winnie Clark.

A potluck dinner was served followed by a program presented by Mrs. Don Birdsong, Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. Helen Bailey, Mrs. Gordon Flippin, Mrs. Cecil Allee, Mrs. Harry Brizendine, Mrs. Louis Rosecrans and Mrs. George Oesterly.

Business meetings were held following the program. Visitors were Mrs. Layton Reed, WMU President, and Mrs. Tommy Barrett.

YOU OWE YOUR FAMILY THIS . . .

American children are the most affluent, educated and fortunate of peoples. Our country has a lot to offer them . . . and they have the resources to take advantage of it all. Make sure they know their country. Let them see America FIRST.

If they haven't marvelled at towering skyscrapers . . . if they haven't known the peace of a crystal blue Arkansas lake or the power of the Atlantic from a sun-splashed Florida beach . . . they're missing something. Part of their history is scattered on the Civil War battlefields of Georgia . . . many things that have helped shape their ideals and attitudes can be found in the nation's capital . . . their heritage includes the rugged mountains and tumbleweed tossed plains of the Southwest.

Family vacations, by car, are a good way of making sure that your children aren't deprived of something rich and proud . . . something called patriotism. See Third National Bank of Sedalia for a low-cost new car loan . . . then see America. FIRST!
